Colony Orders Governor Out

British Ready Harsh Sanctions Against Rebellious Rhodesians

LONDON (AP) — Britain's Labor government planned to push its emergency Rhodesian legislation through Parliament today. Meanwhile, the British governor of the rebellious central African colony rejected Rhodesian Prime Minister Ian Smith's demand that he get out of Government House.

The legislation to pave the way for stronger economic sanctions against Rhodesia's white minority government was expected to be rushed through Parliament without a formal vote.

Such Conservative diehards as the Marquess of Salisbury in the House of Lords and Patrick Wall and Robert Turton in the House of Commons were opposed to sanctions. But party leader Edward Heath, Reginald Maudling and other members of the opposition party's dominant moderate faction approved the government's action so far.

The chief actions taken against the Rhodesian regime are a ban on import of Rhodesian tobacco, which usually amounts to about $70 million a year, and various financial restrictions.

The Rhodesian government after its declaration of independence Thursday relieved Gov. Sir Humphrey Gibbs of his office and told him to vacate Government House, his official residence and office.

In a statement addressed to the Rhodesian people Sunday, Gibbs replied that Smith's government was illegal and that the governor was the only "lawfully constituted authority in Rhodesia."

"I hold my office at the pleasure of Her Majesty the Queen and I will only resign if asked by Her Majesty to do so," Gibbs said. "Her Majesty has asked me to continue in office and I therefore remain your loyal governor and the lawfully constituted authority in Rhodesia."

Smith made no immediate move to eject Gibbs from Government House but in a statement said the governor "is representing not the queen but the British prime minister, thus aiding and abetting him in his obvious endeavor to create a division among the people of Rhodesia."

Looking grim and resolute, Smith went to Government House today and held his first face-to-face meeting with Gibbs since declaring independence. Smith emerged from the hour-long confrontation and returned immediately to his own office.

Later he was asked if he would evict the governor from Government House and replied: "We haven't got a governor in Rhodesia any more."

Newsman asked if force would be used to oust Gibbs.

"This is a decision for him to make," Smith said. In reply to another question he added: "We hope to solve this thing amicably."

Prime Minister Wilson's office said it feared Gibbs is in danger from Smith's government and that anyone who ordered or carried out his forcible expulsion commits an "act of treason."

Few Rhodesians knew of the governor's statement. Government censorship kept it out of

Court Rules Out Registry Law On Reds

Decision Declares Act Passed In 1950 Not Constitutional

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court today declared unconstitutional a requirement that members of the Communist party must register with the government.

The requirement is contained in a section of the 1950 Subversive Activities Control Act.

Justice William J. Brennan delivered the 8-0 decision.

Specifically involved in today's decision were William Albertson of Brooklyn, N.Y., and Roscoe Quincy Proctor, of Oakland, Calif. The Subversive Activities Control Board in 1962 ordered Albertson to register.

Justice Brennan said the risks of self-incrimination involved in individual registration "are obvious."

The requirement to fill out and file a specified form, he declared, "is inconsistent with the protection of the self-incrimination clause" of the Constitution.

Dr. Sheppard Granted New Appeals Hearing

WASHINGTON (AP) — Dr. Samuel H. Sheppard, former Cleveland osteopath, was granted today a hearing on a new appeal to the Supreme Court from his conviction and life sentence for the slaying of his first wife.

Sheppard pressed in the new appeal a contention that publicity about his case made it impossible to impanel a fair and impartial jury.

The high tribunal in 1956 refused to review Sheppard's trial and his unsuccessful appeals to Ohio state courts. He then began habeas corpus proceedings in lower federal courts. Losing in this move, Sheppard again appealed to the Supreme Court.

Johnson Returns From Texas Stay

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson, looking well after a recuperative stay of more than three weeks at his Texas ranch, is back at the White House today and plans to stay there at least until Thursday.

But despite a favorable medical report over the weekend, Johnson has told friends he still doesn't feel as well as he did before his Oct. 8 gall bladder-kidney stone operation and has some pain from the operation.

In the final day of his Texas stay Sunday, Johnson was visited at the LBJ Ranch near Johnson City by two Army enlisted men, both veterans of Viet Nam. They accepted Johnson's invitation to accompany the First Family to church services in St. Barnabas Episcopal Church in Fredericksburg.

"Come on, we've got a lot to pray for — particularly for our men in Viet Nam," Johnson told Sgt. I.C. Robert S. Vandiver of New Orleans and Spec. 5 Robert G. Sullivan of San Antonio, Tex. Vandiver and Sullivan showed up at the ranch at 8 a.m. and made their wish to see the President's home place.

Johnson made no advance commitment to see them, but had coffee ready when they arrived. Vandiver and Sullivan told the President about their experiences in Viet Nam.

Next he drove them 15 miles to Communion services at St. Barnabas.

The car was jam-packed. In addition to Johnson there was his wife and daughter Lynda Bird, Vandiver and Sullivan, Sullivan's wife Maryellen, Vandiver's wife Patricia and the two Vandiver daughters, Cynthia Ann, 7, and Kathleen, 5. They heard a prayer by the rector, the Rev. Jack Langford, for all veterans and particularly those in Viet Nam.

After the services Johnson again piled all kinfold and guests into a white station wagon for the trip back to the ranch. Trailing newsmen and

Cloud Seeks Full Term As Ohio Auditor

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — State Auditor Roger Cloud made it official today.

He announced for a full four-year term in the office to which he was appointed Sept. 20 by Gov. James A. Rhodes.

"Not unterming," Cloud said he would wage an active campaign with representative Archer E. Reilly Jr., R-Franklin, as his campaign manager.

Cloud resigned during his eighth two-year term as a member of the Ohio House to accept appointment to the office formerly held by Rhodes.

He now is serving out the unexpired term of the late Roger W. Tracy who died Nov. 9, 1964. C. W. Goble was acting auditor until Cloud's appointment. Goble now is deputy auditor.

Cloud, 54, served five terms as House speaker and one as minority floor leader in the general assembly. He is a contractor and farmer. His home is in DeGraff near Bellefontaine.

Fidel Blames Boat Raids On United States

Sealift Brings More Cubans To Florida Under Travel Plan

HAVANA (AP)—Prime Minister Fidel Castro has blamed the United States for a hit-and-run attack by two boats on a residential section of the Havana waterfront. One woman was reported injured slightly.

Meanwhile, the U.S. government began a sealift of refugees from Matanzas, Cuba. The chartered excursion boat Skipper K took 108 Cubans to Key West, Fla., Saturday night and another 94 Sunday.

The State Department had no comment on Castro's charge of U.S. responsibility for the strafing attack early Sunday. But Cuban exile sources in Miami said it was the work of RECE—the Cuban Representation in Exile—and that the two boats returned safely to their base "somewhere in the Caribbean."

The Communist newspaper Granma said Mrs. Rosa Reyes Almaguer was hit in the left foot by a 50-caliber machine-gun bullet while she was asleep in her apartment building. No other casualties were reported.

Ohio Mission Begins Tour Of Italian Cities

MILAN, Italy (AP)—Conferences with Milan businessmen were on tap today and a visit to the big Fiat automobile works in Turin was scheduled Tuesday by Ohio's traveling trade mission.

The Ohioans, close to 60 in number, flew in here Sunday from Dusseldorf, Germany.

Gov. James A. Rhodes, heading the mission, was expected to arrive here later from Tel Aviv, Israel.

Ship Sinking Probed

List Of Missing And Dead Climbs To 83

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Coast Guard investigators probed today into the deadly fire at sea that sent the cruise ship Yarmouth Castle to the bottom while the list of missing and presumed dead soared to 83. One person died of burns.

Yarmouth Cruises Inc. added two more names to its roster of those who evidently failed to survive the tragedy—stewardess Phyllis Hall of Jamaica and the ship's doctor, Lisardo Diaz Torrenz of Miami.

At Vero Beach, Fla., news editor William Jackson of the Press Journal said his wife, Louise, surely perished in the fire.

Mrs. Jackson was listed as a passenger and shared a cabin with her daughter, Ann Martin Jackson of Rochester, N.Y.

Ann, in Miami's Jackson Memorial Hospital in critical condition from burns and shock, said her mother awakened her but she lost her in the panic and the confusion of the fire that was already razing the ship. Mrs. Jackson has not been heard from.

One person died of burns in a Nassau hospital, bringing the toll of the disaster to 84.

Nineteen burned survivors remained in hospitals in Nassau and Miami. Of five persons airlifted to Miami, three were reported in critical condition and the others "very ill."

The 14 still at Nassau's Princess Margaret Hospital were in serious condition but a spokesman said he had "every hope" that they would survive.

The cruise ship plunged 1,700 feet to the bottom of the Atlantic Ocean in the Bahamas Saturday morning after fire swept her so suddenly no distress call was heard.

"We looked back," said Margaret Farrell of Fort Lauderdale, Fla., who was in a lifeboat. "There was a mass of red flames, then gray smoke, then nothing."

The U.S. Coast Guard sent two officers to Nassau, Bahamas, to see if they could learn what caused the holocaust aboard the vessel that left Miami Friday night for Nassau with 376 passengers and a crew of 174.

The Coast Guard investigators also are interested in learning what steps were taken to fight the fire and preserve life. Only four of her lifeboats were launched and some passengers complained of inadequate safety measures.

The Bahamas government also was considering probing the fate of the white-hulled steamer that had brought thousands of vacationers to the picturesque island capital.

It was to Nassau that rescue vessels brought survivors, some blanket-wrapped and bandaged, Saturday after breaking off a vigil 60 miles at sea for other survivors. Daylight showed only empty boats and debris.

Reserve Cut Seen 'Legal' By Opponent

Ohio's 83rd Listed With Divisions To Have Units Reduced

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. L. Mendel Rivers says the Defense Department's immediate elimination of 751 Army Reserve units "probably is legal, but it isn't the intent of Congress."

Rivers, chairman of the House Armed Services Committee, was reached Sunday night at his home in Charleston, S.C., following Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara's announcement of the cutback.

The McNamara action affects 55,000 men in more than a dozen states, including Rivers' own South Carolina.

It came despite a request by the Senate Armed Services Committee that the secretary delay any such action until next March.

Most members of that committee couldn't be reached, but one, Republican Margaret Chase Smith, said at her home

Johnstonville Fire Cause Still Sought

A one - story frame home at Johnstonville, near Chester, was gutted by fire this morning, Chester volunteer firemen reported.

The blaze broke out at the home of John Stover and his mother, but neither was at home at the time, firemen said. The cause still was unknown shortly before noon but an overheated furnace was suspected.

Chester firemen extinguished the blaze about 9:15, but they said the interior of the structure was damaged so heavily it probably will have to be razed.

The fire call was received about 7:15 at Chester City Hall

Floyd Buxton Killed

Ex-City Man, 31 Dies In Gun Fight

A 31-year-old former East Liverpool man died Saturday morning in Ft. Worth, Tex., as a result of a gun battle in which another man was wounded.

The victim is Floyd R. (Bob) Buxton, 31, who left East Liverpool about five years ago to make his home in the Texas city. He was employed as a truck and taxi driver.

Details of the shooting were sketchy, but members of the family said it was reported unofficially Mr. Buxton and the other man had argued over a job or a barking dog.

The shooting reportedly occurred when the two men encountered each other in a store. Ft. Worth police described Mr. Buxton as manager of a motel northwest of the Texas city.

Officers said he was killed and another person was wounded critically in what police termed "a gun duel." The wounded person was not identified.

Mr. Buxton was born in Kensington Feb. 26, 1934. He was a son of Mrs. Clarice Reed, who now lives in New Vienna.

In addition to his mother, Mr. Buxton leaves his widow, Mrs. Joyce Thompson Buxton, two sons, Robert Buxton and Thomas Buxton, and two daughters, Marsha Buxton and Theresa Buxton, all at home; two brothers, Phillip Buxton of Warren and Ray Buxton of New Vienna; four sisters, Mrs. Anna Davis of Ft. Worth, Mrs. Barbara Howard of East Liverpool, Mrs. Florena Hall of New Vienna and Miss Allana Buxton of New Vienna, and his maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Six of Carrollton.

The Martin Funeral Home is in charge of arrangements.

Stevenson Quoted

McNamara Blocked Viet Truce Bids, Writer Says

WASHINGTON (AP) — The late United Nations Ambassador Adlai Stevenson was quoted today as having said Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara twice opposed proposals by United Nations Secretary-General U Thant for negotiating a cease-fire in Viet Nam.

This account was written by Eric Sevareid, radio and TV news commentator, for Look magazine.

Sevareid reports a talk he had with Stevenson shortly before ambassador died suddenly in London.

Sevareid writes that during his talk with Stevenson, the ambassador told him: "In the early autumn of 1964, he (Stevenson) went on, U Thant, the UN secretary-general, had privately obtained agreement from authorities in North Viet Nam that they would send an emissary to talk with an American emissary, in Rangoon, Burma.

"Someone in Washington insisted that this attempt be postponed until after the presidential election. When the election was over, U Thant again pursued the matter; Hanoi was still willing to send its man. But Defense Secretary Robert McNamara, Adlai went on, flatly opposed the attempt. He said the South Vietnamese government

Bombers Hit Enemy Rear In Assaults

1st Division Holds Line For 36 Hours, Losses 'Moderate'

IA DRANG VALLEY, Viet Nam (AP) — B52 bombers pounded rear positions of a North Vietnamese regiment today as two American infantry battalions continued to slug it out with the communist enemy in heavy fighting near the Cambodian border.

Two battalions of 1st Air Cavalry Division's 7th regiment — an outfit that followed Gen. George Custer into the battle of the Little Big Horn — held their own through 36 hours of at times savage fighting.

At least 129 enemy bodies were counted and as many as 150 more were believed to litter the battlefield in front of the American lines.

American casualties were termed moderate, but it required more than a dozen helicopters to take out the American wounded. Most of the dead were still in the battle zone. It was too dangerous for helicopters to fly except on urgent missions.

The American troops captured from 60 to 70 automatic weapons of every kind during three major assaults by members of the North Vietnamese 304th Division which infiltrated into South Viet Nam earlier this year.

The B52s hammered an area of the more than two square miles where a main element of the North Vietnamese force was believed located. The U.S. cavalry men pulled back before the air attack.

In earlier air action, North Vietnamese gunners blasted one American A1E Skyraider out of

Ike Reported Past Critical Danger Stage

FT. GORDON, Ga. (AP) — Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower has weathered what his son describes as the period of greatest danger after his heart attack.

Son John and younger brother, Dr. Milton S. Eisenhower, were sufficiently encouraged by Eisenhower's progress to head back to their homes Sunday night after observing Mrs. Eisenhower's 69th birthday.

John would not say they no longer felt any anxiety about the condition of the five-star general, now 75.

But, he explained to newsmen, when "the second set of chest pains occurred this last Wednesday, we were advised at that time the period of greatest danger would be four or five days from that point on."

"That time period has ended," John added. And, said the EAST PALESTINE — Two thousand chickens were destroyed by a fire which razed an area barn Sunday at 11:30 p.m. Fire departments from New Waterford, New Springfield and Unity battled the blaze at the farm of Leonard Ridzon of New Waterford R.D. 1, but were unable to save the building or the chickens.

The loss was set at $5,000. The cause is unknown.

Officers Cite Motorist For Area Mishap

An area motorist was cited for operating a car with defective brakes as the result of one of four district accidents investigated over the weekend and today by the Lisbon State Highway Patrol.

Donald C. Rockhold, 39, of Beacon Light Rd., R.D. 1, was cited after his car hit the rear of another operated by Florence Ida Thayer, 25, of Harvard Ave., M.C. 22, Saturday at 6:25 p.m. on the Y. & O. Rd. 35 feet east of Route 267.

Officers said the woman had halted for another vehicle that was preparing to make a left turn. Rockhold attempted to halt his car, but the brakes failed. Moderate damage resulted to both vehicles.

A Salem man escaped injury but his 1960 convertible was heavily damaged in a crash at 3:45 a.m. today on Route 164 almost a mile north of Route 517.

Officers said the vehicle operated by James A. Taylor, 26, of Salem R.D. 5 knocked over three mailboxes and newspaper boxes owned by Dean Boyd, Ross Stockman and Frank Todd, all of Lisbon R.D. 4.

The convertible had severe damage to the right side and windshield. One of the mailboxes was set in a barrel of cement, officers reported.

A 1961 sports car driven by Steve Stambaugh, 17, of Depot Rd., Salem, was demolished when it rolled over on Route 154 a half mile east of Lisbon Sunday at 5:40 p.m.

Officers said Stambaugh, headed east, went through a narrow bridge and entered a sharp right curve. He lost control of the vehicle which struck a bank and then rolled over. Stambaugh was cut on the scalp. He was arrested for speed in excess of road conditions.

Ruth E. Berresford, 21, of Kensington R.D. 1 also was cited for speed in excess of conditions after she demolished her 1962 sedan Sunday at 4:45 a.m. on Route 30 three-tenths a mile west of Hanoverton.

She apparently was traveling at a high rate of speed and lost control when the right wheel of the car went off onto the berm, the patrol said. She applied the brakes and the car slid sideways down the highway, went off the side and then rolled, officers said.

She suffered a cut on the left leg.

Local Goal Set At $1,500

Negro College Fund Drive Opens

The United Negro College Fund opened its annual appeal in the East Liverpool area today with a goal of $1,500.

The local campaign was initiated Saturday at a luncheon at the Travelers Hotel. The drive will end Dec. 31.

Highlighting the kick-off luncheon was an address by Dr. James P. Browley, president emeritus of Clark College at Atlanta, Ga. and college campaign representative for the city area.

Dr. Browley is shown, extreme right, being greeted by Richard D. Hunsicker, chairman of the East Liverpool campaign, while Caesar A. Peters, co-chairman, looks on.

Dr. Browley told the East Liverpool appeal officers: "The UNCF is most urgent today because of the increasing demands for prepared Negro youth for new opportunities and the increasing financial responsibilities placed upon the member colleges."

Dr. Browley said that a number of graduates from the 33 member colleges of the UNCF were hired in professional positions last year, but the number failed to meet the demand for qualified Negroes.

"It will take some years before the colleges are equipped with the proper facilities to train enough youths to meet the sudden increase in new opportunities for them," Dr. Browley said.

Hunsicker and Peters pledged their full co-operation at Saturday's luncheon. They will head 5,000 volunteers in the area.

Other officers present were Nelson E. Hagerty, treasurer, Mrs. Amelia G. Adams, secretary, and Joseph H. Taylor of Cleveland, regional director.

The national goal for the UNCF is $5,174,000, which is over $2 million more than was raised last year.

The money is being raised on behalf of the 33 member colleges, which provide educational opportunities for 30,000 students. All of the colleges are located in the 11 southern states where 52 per cent of the nation's Negroes live.

The money provides 10 per cent of the operating expenses of all of the member colleges.

Boys Blamed In Fire; Firemen Press Hunt

Firemen today continued looking for two boys who started a fire within five feet of a Pennsylvania Ave. home, then fled from pursuing fire-fighters.

Firemen received the alarm at 12:05 p.m. and chased the youngsters but were unable to catch them.

Official Explains New Ohio Strip Mining Law

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A tougher law on strip mining in Ohio was to be explained to mine operators today by Irving I. Dickman, chief of the Ohio

Division of Forestry and Reclamation.

The new law, which takes effect Friday, increases operators' fees to the state and is intended to lessen permanent damage to strip mined lands.

It requires prevention of stream pollution from silt-laden water, grading of spoil banks, and other measures to restore mined lands.

When a recipe calls for a "dash" of a seasoning, add less than 1/8 teaspoon.

No Progress Being Reported

So much attention is being given to the whip-lash of popular reaction against draft-card burners and get-out-of-Viet-Nam demonstrators lately that the grand strategy of the war is being neglected.

The grand strategy is to convince the enemy his cause is hopeless because he cannot win. Therefore, confronted with the determination of the United States and its support of South Viet Nam's claim to independence, the enemy should withdraw. Those supplying him with war materiel should shut off further supplies and open peace negotiations.

The negotiations would be conducted between North Viet Nam and South Viet Nam, with the United States backing up the latter and the Chinese People's Republic presumably backing up the former.

This has been fiercely attacked by some Republican critics of the Johnson administration's war policy, but administration policy has not been changed.

President Johnson and his advisers are trying to bring the Viet Cong and its backers to the peace table. In the colorful phraseology of Sen. Everett Dirksen, R-Ill., the United States is "holding their feet to the fire" until they plead for a chance to talk things over.

So much for grand strategy. When the enemy will seek surcease from his suffering is problematic. Some predictions run upward to 20 years, mindful that the United States still is pinned down in Korea.

In the meantime, no progress is being reported in the grand strategy of bringing the enemy in Southeast Asia to terms. President Johnson now has authorized additional troops for Viet Nam. It is not revealed how many more will be sent. There are 160,000 U.S. troops already committed.

The total commitment in Korean by 1953 was upward of six million. Total casualties were 157,539—about the same as the total commitment in Viet Nam so far. Two divisions of U.S. troops are still pinned down in Korea.

Three Faces Of Sen. Byrd

Harry F. Byrd's retirement from the U.S. Senate brings into focus a neglected dimension of our public life—the interplay of symbolism and reality in public figures.

Sen. Byrd had three faces as a public figure. The most widely known and recognized was the face of the budget-cutter—the guardian of the public purse—the man who spoke out for the harassed and mostly friendless federal taxpayers.

Americans from coast to coast felt better because Sen. Byrd was looking out for their interests. He was their symbol of prudence. The fact he didn't save as much money as he talked about saving was unimportant. He tried. His countrymen loved him for it.

His fellow senators and other senators made a more realistic appraisal. That was Sen. Byrd's second public image. He was highly regarded by members of both parties in the Senate. Administrators and pork-barrel specialists liked him, in spite of his symbolic role as a budget-cutter. He was an ideal member of what has been described aptly as the "most exclusive club on earth."

The third face was the one worn on occasions by all members of the club. They do not get to the Senate and stay there without being master politicians. They must control their own political destinies.

Sen. Byrd was the hard-bitten boss of the Commonwealth of Virginia.

The American public in general knew little about this, but voters in Virginia never had a chance to forget it. They gave it more attention than the senator's other images—the money saver and the affable, courtly gentleman of the old school who brought geniality and charm to the "most exclusive club on earth."

The Point Of No Return

In the excitement of other world-shaking developments, readers may have overlooked Eddy Gilmore's crisp account for the Associated Press of a fashion development in London.

A well-known London shop displayed for sale and promptly sold out an 18-inch skirt. Another London shop is going to hit the market in a fortnight with a 17-inch skirt. Another has been doing well with a 19-inch skirt.

How long is an 18-inch skirt? The length of a skirt is relative to the length of its wearer. But to make sure how the thing would look we gave a 5-7 girl an 18-inch piece of string to show where an 18-inch skirt would reach to—and golly gee, sports fans... girls will look like band majorettes!

Is that what short skirts are coming to?

Obviously not. What extremely short skirts are coming to are females who think they can get away with them or who think they should try to get away with them, for one reason or another.

The way it is now, extremely short skirts are worn only by very little girls, ballet dancers, band majorettes and certain categories of show people. The way it is going to be is that extremely short skirts will be worn by more females than were worn before, but not by all women—never.

You might call it a rule of thumb that when a skirt reaches a certain degree of shortness it passes the point of no return. Skirt wearers who don't want to pass the point of no return will continue to draw the line where it always has been drawn—the knee.

Power Blackout In RFD

By Truman Twill

Out in Rosy Fingered Dawn where the Twillery stands remote and alone with its framework braced against the gales, an electric power failure can be a dilly, too.

It's nothing like Hustle-Bustle on the Hudson, but it gives the inmates a spell of fluttering uncertainties. The first necessity is to get on the phone or into a car to find out if the blackout is area-wide.

If it's also blacking out the neighbors, none of them close enough to be in sight, the next necessity is to notify the power company. There's no other way for it to find out what's happening at the end of its far-reaching tentacles—and the Twillery is at the end of a claw.

In cold weather, the next move is to build fireplace fires. Flashlights, lanterns and candles are always available in the country.

So far, so good. Light and heat are not emergencies.

A power failure, itself, is no emergency—until the first flutter of excited reaction ends.

Then's when doubts start to gnaw.

How long will it last? If it lasts very long, what about the stuff in the freezer?

What about the water pump, the furnace, the water heater, the sump pump?

Where's the next drink of water coming from? Oh yes, about the bathroom, well, you know, the bathroom. No water.

How long can a human being just sit still wondering about things, with no light to read by, no electricity to cook with, no gawk box to stare into, no squawk box to pass the time with?

How did the pioneers stand the eerie stillness, and is it any wonder they ruined their eyes, trying to read by candlelight?

How did they get warm all over, with nothing but fireplaces and no electric blankets?

Did they build a fire every time they fried an egg?

What did they do for hot water?

How did they make toast?

What kept milk from turning sour? How did they chill beer? What if they wanted something on the rocks?

Imagine... no electric drill, no electric carving knife, no blenders, mixers, electric alarm clocks, night lights, vacuum cleaners, electric door bells, can openers, vibrators, shavers, toothbrushes, soldering irons, dishwashers, automatic washing machines, dryers—not even an electric lawn mower or a hair fluffer. Poor benighted devils!

It has been a half hour already! What are those clowns doing—building a high line? What do they think we're using for electricity—fireflies?

How we gonna cook? Who's gonna stay up all night and throw wood on the fire? How long can civilization last this way? How long, huh? What do they think we're made of anyway—funny putty?

Rendezvous In Outer Space

President To Renew Labor Pledges

By Victor Riesel

Even in the most cynical of labor circles they say that Lyndon Johnson's word is his bond and no one need knock twice at any White House door to have it redeemed.

This the President will prove early next month when he interrupts his rest and recuperation to fly 1,800 miles from the ranch to San Francisco. There he will, amid tumultuous cheers, renew his pledges to labor as he addresses the national AFL-CIO convention.

There will be his first speech to such a gathering of the 800 to 900 men who are the real power base of American labor. They are the national presidents and their immediate palace guards.

Scores of them are his personal friends, and by this trip President Johnson will remind them that he is theirs and that a friend in power is not a friend lost.

He hasn't forgotten that some of the labor chiefs—though certainly not all—strode vigorously with him when he was out of fashion only some 30 months ago.

There was that night of April 18, 1963, when the U.S. Department of Labor celebrated its 50th Anniversary. There were mass banquets all over the nation. The then vice president was hardly permitted to be seen, much less heard from at these assemblages.

THE AGENDAS at the huge Astor and Waldorf dinners in New York City ran on a mimeographed minute-by-minute timetable.

At 8:55 p.m. according to the instructions from some bureaucrat: "Presentation of Portfolio to Secretary Wirts... Mention the fact that you thought he would like to have a memento of this evening, and read telegram from President Kennedy. Also, if time permits, message from Vice President Johnson."

It was not read. For at 9 p.m. Carol Lawrence was scheduled to sing.

Some of Mr. Johnson's aides recall well the angry words spoken the next day by some of the President's labor friends. This is but one incident of many.

He did learn who his friends were. Now he is theirs on a man-to-man basis, though he is aware that modern politics is at bottom a struggle not of men but of forces.

LYNDON WANTS these men and forces with him. He pledged he would fight for the repeal of 14B. He gave his word he would battle for "common situs" picketing (the right of a union to picket all gates of a construction project thus affecting all contractors though the union involved is battling with only one company). He promised wider minimum wage coverage. He said he would get bigger and steadier and longer unemployment insurance.

His speech to the national AFL-CIO convention which opens on Dec. 9 is not yet written. But it is no lottery-odds chance to wager that he will renew most of these promises in his talk.

It's opined that he would not break his post-operative rest with the arduous trip and hand-shaking, hand-tugging, which will occur on the convention stage, if he were not going to commit himself to their battle. It's expected he will assert that the struggle will begin in the reconvened Congress during its earliest days.

MR. JOHNSON would not take this time out of the tensions of a war, or the strains of budget making, or the intensity of molding the next State of the Union speech, if he did not intend to say he would push their prime demands through the early part of the session.

He wrote a somewhat similar pledge into the State of the Union message. It's expected that he will again write into it a direct reference to the need for repeal of the ban on the union shop.

He will fly to the San Francisco convention to show the flag, as the British say. It is no journey to Canossa. It is no mere political journey for it's a long way to the next national balloting.

It's a declaration of mutual dependence—the bond which exists between himself and the leaders of labor. It's a stronger bond than any which has ever existed between an American president and American labor.

It's the President's way of saying: These are my friends; we have a job to do together; we will do it.

And that's a mighty powerful backfield. Everett Dirksen will need a mighty sturdy line.

Snowden Escapes Royal Suffocation

By Roderick MacLeish

In the beginning it was the Princess. She was, after all, a natural focus of public attention—born into the glittering enigma of British royalty, childhood companion of the second Elizabeth, post-war pivot of a jet set that included the slightly tarnished upper layers of British society and selected imports from the Eastern United States.

After that there was her role as the heroine in a tragic if somewhat overworked drama of love for a divorced man lost to the demands of regal position and the established church.

Finally with a subtle breath of public disdain, the marriage to a photographer who—for all that he was the son of an earl and a graduate of Eton and Oxford—was an employee of the Daily Express which Margaret's brother-in-law, Prince Philip, once described as "a bloody awful newspaper."

All of this conspired to put Princess Margaret into the exact center of whatever tableau she was occupying—public appearance or the private thoughts of her sister's subjects.

And, inevitably, a rather gritty price was paid for the unconventional past she brought to her marriage with Tony Armstrong-Jones, later Lord Snowden. Snide rumors and snickers circulated London drawing rooms and the rest of the public shrugged.

Then, gradually, it became the man she married.

LORD SNOWDON has been many things in his life: photographer, fashionable bohemian, designer and author. He was, as one British writer put it, typical of the new aristocracy—the modern British version of the Renaissance man who cannot only do many things well but do them with a subtle style that is unique to the present British generation.

But of all the challenges to Lord Snowden's life, none was more formidable than that which faced him on May 6, 1960, the day he married Princess Margaret. It was necessary for him to subordinate his own restless personality to hers—and hers was erratic. As a creative man he faced that nightmare in which the things he created would be accepted because of his celebrated marriage and not for themselves. Personally and socially, he contemplated the stupefying life of ritual boredom and reality lost that is the fate of retired admirals, honorary board chairmen and those who marry royal ladies.

Finally, he was personally the target of many of the snide rumors. He had married Margaret, they said, because it was a quicker road to glory. "He even looks a bloody nit," said a London cab driver on the day of the wedding.

In the years since, Lord Snowden has managed to climb out of this bog of trivia and more to the center of the tableau himself. If bits of disdain still cling to him, it is because attitudes change slowly.

Through The Years

From The Review Files

THIRTY YEARS AGO—Providing a substantial "backlog" for the Yule fire, two local financial institutions announced $112,000 would be distributed to 2,100 members in Christmas savings clubs.

George Lucas of Sophia St. reported to police that eight chickens were stolen from his coop.

TWENTY YEARS AGO—The end of boot and shoe rationing left Columbiana County retailers free to destroy stamps and rationing records.

Regis Scarf, former coach of the East End grade school football team before he entered the Army, received his discharge and assumed his duties as coach of the Horace Mann basketball team.

TEN YEARS AGO—The Midland Board of Education approved Miss Anne Guthrie, U.N. expert, as the speaker for graduation exercises in May. It marked the first time in the history of the school that a woman was chosen to give the commencement address.

The Calcutta volunteer fire department began work on the foundation of the new fire hall.

The Experiment

By Ken McKenna

Goodwill Through Young Adults

In foreign countries, the United States is best known for the companies it keeps.

"Corporations represent us abroad. They have a high visibility. A foreigner's idea of this country is often formed by his impression of U.S. business," comments F. Gordon Boyce, president of the Experiment in International Living, a private non-profit organization that has little to do with American corporations, but would like to have more.

His organization's aim is to further international education and its method is built around arranging for a young adult to spend a month as a member of a foreign family.

The Experiment for International Living began this individual approach to fostering world friendship in 1932. "We invented the home stay as an international medium," Boyce said. "Nowadays, it's become commonplace."

He now is pushing a new program that would get business involved in the Experiment. The idea is to persuade companies to provide scholarships for children of their employees to live abroad for two months.

Boyce sees the scholarships as a new, imaginative fringe benefit that corporations can offer to employees. The program would be aimed at the children of lower-echelon employees for the simple reason that their parents can't afford to offer their youngsters European educational junkies.

The Experiment has explored the project with a number of companies and has received positive responses from six of them. Helping out was a task force of business and professional men who suggested the best ways to work out the idea.

Among the advisers are such well-known figures as former Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

Between now and Christmas officials of the Experiment will be contacting firms to try to sell them on the program. "We don't expect an immediate response," Boyce said. "We'll get into the big corporations later." The goal is to get the program started by next summer.

The organization feels that it might be helpful if the person sponsored goes to a country where the firm has a subsidiary. Thus, he can learn about the country and how American business operates outside the U.S.

The Experiment's most effective work in the past has been in its emphasis on homestays actually living with a foreign family and getting to know them.

American companies abroad often have been criticized for the manner in which their personnel manage to live for years in a country without learning anything about it. This is the type of nationalistic narrowness the Experiment was organized to overcome.

EDITOR OF THE REVIEW:

Today I heard from a "Little Birdie" that the new post office site had been selected without a doubt.

The new location will be either at, or, within the area of the old Horn Switch location. I also have reason to believe that actual construction will not get under way before next spring, perhaps in May.

In the past there have been several locations suggested, with attempts made to option or to purchase the properties at these locations without too much success.

How does this suggestion sound to you?

When the new high school building is completed and the present high school buildings are emptied, what would be wrong with using the present Central school building site for a spot for the new post office? Why not forget the post office deal until the Central Building is empty?

The money from the purchase of the Central Building would tend to bolster the economy of the school board and at the same time centralize the location of the new federal structure.

The building itself would be built with two stories at the rear in Church Alley, with one story on E. 4th St., with plenty of building area and easy parking space in the front area at E. 4th St.

EDITOR OF THE REVIEW:

I would like to call the attention of the town officials to the conditions of some of our apartment houses.

We raise a big hue and cry about keeping our city clean and beautifying it. But what about these apartment houses?

Most of the people who own them live in very nice homes, yet they will rent apartments that have no windows, no ventilation, no fire escapes for people on upper floors, five or six tenants sharing one dirty bathroom, most of the living rooms with a great big double bed in instead of a studio couch to make it look halfway presentable.

If you ask for paint or paper, they look at you like you are out of your mind. True, lots of tenants take advantage of their landlords—take things, destroy things, etc. But for the rest of us who don't, I think it would profit them to fix up these places.

I've been looking for a nice, clean, efficiency apartment, furnished, but I haven't found one yet. The places in the higher income brackets I'm sure are better places, but for us pensioners, What to do? Do we have to settle for this?

I was never used to luxurious living, but I am used to cleanliness, privacy and furniture that doesn't need an apology to every guest who enters your home.

Lisbon Court Begins Trials

LISBON — Two trials, one criminal and the other a civil action, began today before Common Pleas Court juries.

The criminal case against Cecil Mike, no age or address listed, is being heard before Judge Raymond S. Buzzard, while Judge Joel H. Sharp will hear George H. Bell, administrator of the estate of Adeline E. Bell, Salem R.D. 1, vs. Chappell-Zimmerman, Inc., of 641 Olive St.

Mike was indicted April 4 on a charge of breaking and entering Scafield's Market. Entering a plea of not guilty, he was arraigned Nov. 4.

Plaintiff - administrator Bell is seeking two separate amounts of money in a lawsuit action—$42,280 in the first cause and $34,061.25 in the second. Although the two causes originally were filed as two separate cases, they were consolidated March 12.

Earlier today, 25 persons appeared at the clerk of courts office in the Courthouse in a venire for jury duty. Many of those 25 are expected to sit on one of the two jury trials commencing today.

He had described her condition Saturday as "not too hot" but said she had improved by Sunday.

"She seems to have some sort of respiratory congestion but nothing serious," John said.

Neither John nor Milton knew if there were any plans to transfer Eisenhower to Walter Reed Army Hospital. But John indicated he and his family hope to spend Thanksgiving with his father at the Washington hospital.

He said Christians should disobey laws enacted by Smith's regime to "subvert the spirit of the displaced constitution," which Smith threw out after his declaration of independence.

At the United Nations, African members continued to demand that Britain use force against Smith's government, but they were faced with the necessity of dropping this demand from the resolution they put before the Security Council.

The majority of the council's 11 members would not support the call for military action. A rival British resolution calling for an arms embargo against Rhodesia also had no chance of adoption.

Club President Cited In Beaver Falls Raid

BEAVER FALLS — Beaver Falls police and Beaver County detectives raided the Rochester Athletic Club at 1:15 this morning and cited Carl K. Parsons, president, before Squire Milton Richeal of West Mayfield Borough on a charge of establishing a gambling place.

Charges are pending against 15 others who were present at the time of the raid, police said. Officials said further investigation is planned.

FALSE TEETH That Loosen Need Not Embarrass

Many wearers of false teeth have suffered real embarrassment because their plate dropped, slipped or wobbled at just the wrong time. Do not live in fear of this happening to you. Just sprinkle a little FASTEETH, the alkaline (non-acid) powder, on your plates. Hold false teeth more firmly, so they feel more comfortable. Does not sour. Checks "plate odor breath". Get FASTEETH at drug counters everywhere.

70 Attend Training Sessions For District Camp Fire Girls

Seventy attended an all-day workshop at the Bryan Recreation Center in Dixonville last week, sponsored by the district training committees of the East Liverpool, Salem, East Palestine and Weirton Camp Fire Girls.

Using the theme, "Camp Fire A-Gro Gro," each council presented materials on promoting Bond, administrative secretary.

Mrs. Charles Davis and Mrs. Charles Ubrith dramatizing ways of promoting the Camp Fire program to girls, parents and the community at large.

Promoting the camp program was presented by the Salem council, with Mrs. Richard Zeigler and Mrs. Jeannette Kells in charge. Promotional literature used in training and recruiting was displayed.

Following lunch, the East Liverpool group led the discussion on symbolism and Mrs. Harry Faulk presented the Camp Fire Girls objectives in symbols. Interpretation of council symbolgrams and flags was presented by the East Liverpool and Salem units and games, crafts, head bands and other items using symbols were also featured by the combined councils.

A closing ceremonial marked the end of the workshop. Planned by the East Liverpool unit, it featured the lighting of the Wobelo candles by Mrs. Alice Diddle, Mrs. Virgil Smith and Mrs. Leonard Husk. The Credo for Camp Fire Girls was given by Mrs. Joseph Prager, vice president of the East Liverpool Council, Mrs. Mulligan, the Weirton president, Mrs. Gwen Gallatin, president of the East Palestine association, and Mrs. Zeigler, a member of the Salem Board of Trustees.

Mrs. Richard Chadwick, training chairman in East Liverpool, presented certificates to everyone attending.

The district training chairman who planned and conducted the workshop included: Mrs. Chadwick, Mrs. Carol Stine of Salem, Mrs. Gallatin of East Palestine, and Mrs. Foster Coburn of Weirton.

Assisting the East Liverpool chairman was the following committee: Mrs. Faulk, Mrs. Norman Scott, Mrs. Charles Keuper, Mrs. Jack Talbott, Mrs. Diddle, Mrs. Smith, Mrs. Husk, Mrs. Russell Gongaware, Miss Anna Campbell and Mrs. Dan Henderson, administrative secretary for the local council.

Mrs. Charles Lang was song leader and Mrs. Connie Bangor, pianist. Table settings featured the Camp Fire colors of red, white and blue. Blue covers were used. Milk glass candle holders with red candles and napkin rings fashioned with assorted symbol designs completed the settings.

Mrs. Chadwick announced that with the completion of the fall basic training program, no additional training plans are pending until following the holidays, when dates for a second basic course and outdoor training will be announced.

Crashes Kill 18 Over Ohio

Traffic Fires Miscellaneous Total

By The Associated Press

Eighteen traffic fatalities and three hunting weapon deaths were reported across Ohio over the weekend.

Nine persons were killed Friday night when three Miami University students lost their lives in two Southwest Ohio auto wrecks and three men died in two car-train crashes.

Fires took two more lives. Saturday and Sunday deaths:

Saturday

Raymond Billie, 19, Cleveland, struck by two cars when he tried to dash across Memorial Shoreway in Cleveland.

Fay Christman, 75, Cleveland, who evidently walked into the side of a car in Cleveland.

Donald E. Creel, 37, Akron, when his car struck a utility pole in Akron.

Mrs. Margaret G. Snyder, 75, Columbus, whose car rammed the corner of the beauty salon building she had just left in Columbus.

Ralph E. Donahue, 37, Pataskala, when he slipped on wet grass while hunting and was struck by a discharge from his gun, in his home area of Licking County.

Robert L. Moll, 23, North Madison, Lake County, whose shotgun went off as he was unloading it from his car after a hunting trip.

George H. Green, 54, Youngstown, in a two-car collision at a Youngstown intersection.

Mrs. Reva Summerfield, 57, Akron, in a traffic collision on Ohio 532 in Mogadore.

Mrs. Pearl T. Boggs, 51, Barberton, in an auto crash in Norton Village near Akron.

Sunday

Clarence B. Elliott, 73, Springfield, struck by a car as he walked along Ohio 41 near Springfield.

Martin Stewart, 78, Manchester, in a fire that destroyed an old schoolhouse and adjoining structure in which he made his home.

Charles C. Jackson, Franklin Twp., Warren County, in a fire at his home attributed to a cigarette igniting a couch.

Miss Bessie M. Dorsey, 24, Warren, when the shotgun her brother was putting away in their home discharged.

Janice Ann Haymond, 16, Forest, Hardin County, when the car she was driving ran off a township road near Williams-town, Hancock County, and slid broadside into a salt storage bin.

Light Rains Expected Tonight And Tuesday

Light rains are expected tonight and Tuesday, the Ohio weatherman said.

Tonight will be warmer, with a low of 37-44, the forecaster said. Tuesday will be partly cloudy and warmer with scattered afternoon showers.

The mercury hit 27 in the downtown area at 5 this morning. Clear skies allowed a heavy frost to form.

Ohio 5-Day Forecast

Temperatures will average near normal south and west and two to three degrees below normal northeast. Representative normal highs and lows are Cleveland 48-51, Cincinnati 52-55, Columbus 49-51. Warmer Tuesday, then little change. Light showers near end of week and south Tuesday will average a tenth of an inch or less.

Employees Given Wage Increases By Market Firm

A new three-year contract agreed upon Sunday at Pittsburgh by the Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea Co. and Local 590, Amalgamated Food Employees, provides wage increases and other benefits for 3,800 employees of 200 markets in Western Pennsylvania and Eastern Ohio.

Joseph H. Sabel, president of the union, said the value of the wage package is more than 25 cents an hour. It also provides guaranteed job security and fringe benefits, he said.

The agreement climaxed four months of bargaining. It is retroactive to Sept. 13, when the former two-year contract expired.

Sabel said the pact provides for increases of 6½ cents an hour in the first year, 5 cents the second year and 7½ cents the third year. It also calls for a health and welfare program. Workers with 28 years or more service were granted a five-week vacation.

McNamara Gives Order

Military Plans Recheck
On Alternate Power Nets

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara has ordered a meticulous recheck of all the military communications and power systems to make certain they cannot be knocked out by the kind of power breakdown which darkened much of the U.S. Northeast last week.

The military communications and power setup operated smoothly during that unprecedented blackout.

However, sources said McNamara and other defense officials had felt it advisable to recheck the systems worldwide to be sure they are as invulnerable to interruption as they are supposed to be.

In the affected Northeast area, all U.S. Air, Navy and Army installations switched automatically to backup power last Tuesday night when the civilian community went dark and their commercial sources were broken off.

The Strategic Air Command and the North American Air Defense Command both found that their auxiliary systems worked effectively. In fact, military installations were in position to offer help to the civilian community.

Since the McNamara administration took over in the Pentagon nearly five years ago, there has been great emphasis on assuring uninterrupted communications which are essential in the atomic-nuclear age to effective defense and quick command reaction.

A system of redundancy has been built in everywhere. This means that there is never reliance on a single source of power or a single communications network. Everything has at least one and often several alternate arrangements.

This year alone the Defense Department is spending about $700 million on improving the intricate communications network.

Officials are reluctant to go on record as saying with complete assurance that the hot line between Washington and Moscow can never be knocked out. They have claimed such invulnerability to interruptions, but the Northeast blackout has made them more cautious, although they say they have no reason to believe there are any weak links in the line.

In last week's massive blackout the hot line was unaffected. It is composed basically of two circuits, a land-cable connection and a radio circuit used only to replace the land line in service emergencies.

39-Day Strike Ended
By Blaw-Knox, Union

PITTSBURGH (AP)—A 39-day old strike against Blaw-Knox Co. by the United Steelworkers has ended.

Negotiators reached agreement Sunday. Terms of the pact were not announced.

A company spokesman said some 3,000 workers would begin returning today to the steel fabrication's plants.

Plane Crash Kills
Pentagon Staffer
And Dad In Ohio

IRONTON, Ohio (AP) — A high-ranking Pentagon official radioed the Charleston, W. Va., airport Sunday that his plane's one engine was giving him trouble. Then radio silence.

The plane piloted by Army Col. Bennett L. Jackson, 52, had nosed down eight miles northwest of Ironton, killing the colonel and his 83-year-old father.

Jackson was chief of Command Information Division, Office of the Army Chief of Information. His father lived in Louisville, Ky., and they were en route to Louisville from Alexandria, Va.

The red and white Piper Comanche was a crumpled tangle when found in the woods about two miles west of Ohio 93.

The Highway Patrol, fixing time of the crash at 9 a.m., said both victims died instantly and their bodies were pinned in the wreckage several hours.

Col. Jackson, of Washington, D. C., was a former advisor to the Royal Army of Thailand. He was a decorated war veteran who in a military career started in 1940 served in Panama, Germany and Thailand among other posts.

Sandra Lee Lane Marries In Ceremonies At Temple

A cathedral train complemented the gown of Miss Sandra Lee Lane when she became the bride of Jack Lee Cochran the afternoon of Oct. 31 at 2 p.m. in the Prayer Temple.

The bride is the daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. Harry Lane of Calcutta. Her husband's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Everett Cochran of Oak St.

The Rev. Clement Humbard, pastor of the Calvary Temple of Youngstown, officiated for the double-ring ceremony before an altar background of palms, ferns and candelabra. Mrs. Elmer Kell played a half-hour recital of organ music. Miss Mary Lane, sister of the bride, sang "I Love You Truly."

The bride was escorted to the altar and given in marriage by her father. Her gown of French chantilly was fashioned with long, tapered sleeves. Pearls and sequins adorned the fitted bodice styled with a Sabina neckline. Five tiers of bouffant lace ruffles formed the skirt.

A double-tier crown of crystals and seed pearls held her veil of imported silk illusion. She carried a Colonial bouquet of white carnations and stephanotis, tied with satin streamers. All the familiar traditions were observed. Her only jewelry was the diamond necklace of her grandmother, Mrs. Iva Pethel.

Miss Jerry Ann Lane, sister of the bride, was maid of honor and wore a two-toned pink, floor-length gown designed with an Empire bodice and controlled skirt.

BRIDESMAIDS were Miss Mary Lane, who appeared in aqua; Miss Donna Dunn, in blue, and Miss Linda Adkin, in yellow. Their floor-length gowns were designed with fitted bodices and slender skirts. They wore double tier pearl and crystal crowns to which were attached bubble veils and carried Colonial bouquets of car-

Dale Houghtons Residing In Chester After Marriage

Mr. and Mrs. Marion Dale Houghton are residing in a newly-furnished apartment at 120 Columbia Dr., Chester, following their marriage the afternoon of Oct. 23 in the First Methodist Church of Newell.

The bride was the former Miss Glenda Cordray, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Cordray of 1st St., Newell. The bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Houghton, also of First St.

The Rev. Willis S. Summers officiated for the double-ring ceremony before an altar banked with mums, palms and candelabra. Satin bows marked the family pews.

Miss Mary Margaret Anderson presented a half-hour recital of organ music. Miss Linda Cordray, cousin of the bride, sang "O Promise Me" and "I Love You Truly."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a ballerina-length gown of Chantilly lace fashioned with a bouffant skirt formed of tiers. The matching jacket had long, pointed sleeves.

Her elbow-length veil of imported, silk illusion was held in place by a tiara of crystals. She carried a Colonial bouquet of white rosebuds tied with satin streamers. All the familiar traditions were observed.

Miss Linda Gadd, maid of honor, wore a dress of poudre blue organza. Her shoes, headpiece and theater veil were in medium blue. She carried a Colonial bouquet of pink and white rosebuds.

Larry Gadd served as best man.

The mother of the bride chose a beige dress with matching accessories and yellow rosebud corsage. The bridegroom's mother was attired in a blue ensemble with matching accessories and corsage of white roses.

A reception for 50 followed in the social rooms. The buffet table was centered with a four-tier cake, topped with a miniature bride and groom.

Aides were Miss Ruth Ann Cordray, cousin of the bride; and Mrs. Helen Cordray, her aunt; Miss Luann House, Mrs.

Violet McConnell and Mrs. Eugene Bailey.

Guests were from Clinton, Chester and New Cumberland.

The bride is a 1965 graduate of Oak Glen High School. Her husband is employed at the Homer Laughlin China Co.

parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Wagner of Beaver and Mr. and Mrs. Phillip Sullivan of Rochester and the great-grandmother, Mrs. Julia Unger of Coraopolis.

Plans for the annual Christmas party for members of the Industry volunteer fire department and auxiliary were completed at a meeting of the auxiliary Thursday night in the fire hall.

The affair will be held Dec. 19 in the fire hall with the covered dinner beginning at 3:30 p. m. Each family will bring two dozen cookies.

A program will be given, Santa Claus will attend to distribute treats to the children, who will also enjoy a gift exchange. Mrs. George A. Brown was named chairman to be assisted by Mrs. Michael Mehno and Mrs. Robert Loncar.

Mrs. Charles Karolewski, president, conducted business. Mrs. Max Williams, Mrs. Louis Steff and Mrs. Karolewski were hostesses.

Mrs. Mary Eckstein and Mrs. Carl Jarvis will be co-hostesses for the next meeting Dec. 14 at 7:30 p. m. in the fire hall.

A meeting of the Ohioville Pinocchio Club was cancelled Friday. It will be held Nov. 19 at 8 p. m. in the home of Mrs. Chester Canteleupe on Blackhawk Road.

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Flowers and family of Ohioville have moved to their new home in Chicago.

Hancock Car Mishap Damages Guardrails

Five guardrail posts adjacent to Route 30 near Terrace Lanes were taken out by a careening auto about 4:30 this morning, the Hancock County sheriff's office reported.

The 1956 vehicle was traveling west when a tire blew out, causing the driver, Percy Lee Seliren, 45, of Pine Bluff, Ark., to lose control, the report stated. The motorist was uninjured. He was not cited.

Miss Karen Lee Malone, Corp. Harold Tice Marry

Miss Karen Lee Malone became the bride of Corp. Harold Lee Tice in a double-ring ceremony performed Nov. 4 at 7 o'clock in the College St. Methodist Church of Newcomerstown.

The Rev. William A. Hewitt, former pastor of the Central Methodist Church of Wellsville, officiated.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth E. Malone of 707 Broadway, Wellsville, and her husband is the son of Mrs. Lenora Kuta of 1017 Main St., Wellsville.

The bride wore a poudre blue knit suit with white accessories and a corsage of white carnations.

Mr. and Mrs. David Rife were attendants. The matron of honor wore a pink suit with black accessories and a white carnation corsage.

A wedding dinner for the bridal party was held at Meade's Restaurant in Wellsville.

The bride is a 1964 graduate of Wellsville High School and is employed by Russell's Dairy.

Her husband was graduated in 1962 from the high school and has been serving with the Marine Corps for three years. He will report Nov. 28 to Camp Pendleton, Calif., for further assignment.

Following a honeymoon tour of southern states, the newlyweds are residing with the bride's parents.

A pre-nuptial shower was given by aunts of the bride, Mrs. Ruby Bise and Mrs. Zella Herbert, at the home of the bride's parents.

Princess Set For Visits In U.S. Capital

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP)—Britain's Princess Margaret and her husband, the Earl of Snowdon, leave today for Washington, D.C. after a 10-day visit to various places in the western United States.

They will stay at the British Embassy as guests of Ambassador Sir Patrick Dean and Lady Dean and attend a reception given by the National Press Club and the Women's National Press Club tonight.

Tuesday, they will lay a wreath at Arlington Cemetery on President John F. Kennedy's grave, tour Mount Vernon, have lunch at the British Embassy, visit Washington Cathedral and attend a reception given by Ambassador and Lady Dean.

Public engagements Wednesday include a visit to the National Gallery of Art and dinner that night with President and Mrs. Johnson at the White House.

The Snowdons leave Thursday for New York, the final leg of their 20-day U.S. tour.

and relayed to the Lawrenceville volunteer fire department, which normally has jurisdiction over the Johnstonville area.

However, Chester firemen were summoned later when no radio call was received from the Lawrenceville department regarding instructions, apparently because of lack of available firemen.

It was feared originally that the house was occupied. However, it was learned that Stover was at work at the Crucible Steel Co. in Midland and that his mother is vacationing in Florida.

Beer Mash Jam

FALL RIVER, Mass. (AP)—Rush hour traffic was affected for about a mile near here as vehicles slipped and skidded. Two and a half tons of beer mash crashed through the tailgate of a truck and spilled down a hill. Firemen were called to wash the mash off the hill.

photographers were invited in for coffee and cookies.

Johnson's White House schedule includes a reception tonight for John A. Gronouski, former postmaster general who is leaving soon to take up his new post as ambassador to Poland.

Wednesday night the Johnsons will give a dinner dance for Britain's Princess Margaret and her husband, the Earl of Snowdon.

Johnson still has made no announcement on where he will meet Dec. 7-8 with West German Chancellor Ludwig Erhard — whether it will be in the White House, the LBJ Ranch or elsewhere.

the sky, a U.S. military spokesman reported. The pilot was killed when the plane exploded near the battleground 200 miles north of Saigon in the central highlands.

Most of the U.S. force was inside a narrow, heavily wooded valley while North Vietnamese units held the high ground.

Sniper fire was intense during the lulls between North Vietnamese attacks. American casualties mounted by the hour.

Three North Vietnamese battalions—about 2,000 men—were engaging the U.S. troops and it was possible that others were waiting farther back.

The fighting broke out Sunday afternoon after one battalion of the 1st Cavalry's 7th Regiment was lifted in for an assault. Another battalion was thrown into the battle today.

One battalion commander, Lt. Col. Hal Moore of Bardonia, Ky., said: "We're expecting anything tonight. We definitely hurt them today. But if you go to sleep for one minute around here, you lose men."

One American company took very heavy casualties when it bore the brunt of one of the Communists' main thrusts. A platoon suffered the same fate when it was cut off from the main unit for 36 hours. In each case only a comparative handful of Americans escaped unscathed.

Moore said at no point did the Communist assaults — one of them battalion size — penetrate American lines.

"We were in control of the situation pretty much throughout the fighting," he said.

"The acts of heroism I've seen by my men are unbelievable. We showed them that American soldiers can fight their kind of war."

He cited Lt. Joseph Mar of Chicago who charged a machine-gun position and took it out single handed with a barrage of grenades and his steel bayonet.

The site is 6 miles from the Cambodian border and about 12 miles west of the Special Forces camp at Plei Me.

Senior American commanders in the Plei Me area estimated earlier that more than 850 Communists had been killed since the enemy first attacked the Plei Me camp Oct. 19. The U.S. 1st Cavalry Airmobile Division has accounted for about 150 air attacks and Vietnamese forces for the rest.

Since the siege of the camp was lifted, the cavalrymen have remained in the area looking for the big Communist force that attacked the camp.

U.S. planes flew more than 100 sorties against the three North Vietnamese battalions battling the cavalrymen today. The spokesman said American intelligence officers had identified the enemy as North Vietnamese.

One American company was hit from three sides by an estimated three companies of Communists. A sharp see-saw battle followed, but the Americans held their ground, the spokesman said.

During the night, Air Force transports dropped 120 flares to light up the battle area and expose enemy positions. Army helicopters were called into the area to lend their firepower against the enemy.

Reports indicated that the Communists did not have the large number of heavy and light machine guns used during their attack on Plei Me last month. There were no reports that the Communists were using heavy mortars.

U.S. and Vietnamese casualties in the siege of Plei Me and subsequent action in the area have been officially termed light. But in announcing last week that 70 Americans were killed in the week of Oct. 31-Nov. 6, a U.S. spokesman said most of them fell in actions around Plei Me.

No other significant ground action was reported.

A U.S. spokesman reported that a pilot's navigational error was responsible for the American jet attack Saturday in the southern portion of the demilitarized zone between North and South Viet Nam. He said additional navigational aids would be set up in an attempt to prevent a recurrence.

The spokesman said one South Vietnamese policeman was critically wounded and three civilians were slightly wounded.

Liquor Arrests Made

Near-Riot Follows Raid At Cleveland Dance Hall

CLEVELAND (AP)—A free-for-all in which a liquor agent said, "we fought for our lives" flared during a routine raid Sunday at Eugene W. Debs Hall.

Thirty of the 70 persons attending a dance at the hall early Sunday were arrested — 26 on charges of disorderly assembly. Four men were held for investigation.

Ralph E. Kreiger, state liquor agent in charge of the Cleveland area, said he would submit to the prosecutor today liquor law violation charges against three of those arrested.

Debs Hall, on the second floor of a business and apartment building, is the Cleveland headquarters of the Socialist Workers Party and the Young Socialist Alliance, the party's youth movement.

A Cleveland detective and a liquor agent, who bought tickets and entered the dance shortly before the raid, said they witnessed illegal liquor sales. The officers said the hall has no liquor permit and no dance permit was issued.

Two more detectives and five more liquor agents entered the hall for the raid led by Kreiger. Officers said a free-for-all started when detectives Charles Vaughn and Edward Sullivan were attacked by a young man after Vaughn asked the crowd to disperse because the group had no dance permit.

"For the next half hour, we fought for our lives until enough police arrived to quiet the mob," Kreiger said. "It was one big mass of human bodies in battle."

Police said the agents and detectives were beaten, knocked down and kicked during the melee. Sullivan was treated for minor injuries.

Having a fall party? Count on a quart of spirited punch serving six to eight portions.

Georgian Denies Threat To Take Life Of President

ATLANTA (AP) — A house painter is being held on a charge of threatening the life of President Johnson.

Billy Ray Pursley, 31, of Summerville, Ga., was arrested Sunday by Secret Service agents on a warrant issued by a U.S. commissioner at Concord, N.C., Saturday. Pursley allegedly threatened the President while buying a rifle in Charlotte, N.C., last Thursday, A.G. Vial of the Secret Service said.

Pursley is married and the father of a child.

Vial said that Pursley bought a rifle at a Charlotte discount house Nov. 11. Witnesses to the purchase stated he threatened to use the rifle upon the President Vial said.

Vial said the man admitted buying the rifle but denied having made any threats.

People In News

LONDON (AP) — Charles, prince of Wales and heir to the British throne, observed his 17th birthday Sunday at Gourdonston School in Scotland.

Flags flew on public buildings in the British capital and other cities but it was because of Remembrance Sunday, marking the annual observance of the World War I Armistice and tribute to the dead of two world wars.

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Judy Garland was married Sunday to actor Mark Herron, her one-time traveling companion.

She and Herron traveled in the Far East last year and Herron announced later they had been married in a Chinese ceremony. However, Miss Garland and her lawyer issued a denial, saying her divorce from Sid Luft was not final.

Miss Garland was divorced from Luft, her third husband, last May 19.

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Bob Hope, who never has won an acting Oscar, got an Oscar of sorts Sunday from actors.

President Charlton Heston of the Screen Actors Guild presented the comic with the Guild's first annual award "for outstanding achievement in fostering the finest ideals of the acting profession."

The award is an onyx and bronze version of the ancient Grecian masks of comedy and tragedy.

Food Bill Slated To Rise In U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The national food bill will hit $36 billion this year and should run higher in 1966, the government reported today.

The total works out to $439 for each man, woman and child in the country.

But the Agriculture Department, in making these calculations, said increases in both total and per capita spending for food next year are unlikely to match the 6 per cent rise over 1964.

About half of the 1965 boost in the total food bill was attributed to higher prices for major farm products. The above average again has been spurred also by rising after-tax incomes and by a growing demand for such relative luxuries as eating away from home.

For the farmer who produces the raw materials of food, the outlook for 1966 is for overall cash receipts from sales at about this year's levels—a little more for livestock and possibly poultry and a little less for field crops.

But the average farmer is expected to have more cash left over after paying his bills because the new farm law assures him higher direct payments from the government.

Clubs At Midland Convene Jointly

About 50 attended a combined meeting of the Midland Rotary and Lions Clubs Thursday night in the social rooms of the First Presbyterian Church to hear a talk by Paul London, vice president and general manager of the Beaver County Times.

His topic was "Privileges and Obligations of Citizenship." Charles Smith introduced the speaker. Bill Yee, president of the Rotary Club, the host group, introduced Rotary officers and Maurice Newman, Lions president, recognized Lions officers.

Truman Rodfong led the Lions in singing the club song. William Moll led group singing and the invocation.

Roland DiCostro, a senior at Midland High School, and Cedric McClinton, a senior at Western Beaver High School in Industry, were guests of the Rotary Club.

Soviet Shepherd Gets Secret Police Honors

MOSCOW (AP)—The head of the Soviet secret police has awarded a medal to a shepherd for protecting the nation's border against unidentified violators, apparently Chinese.

The Communist party newspaper Pravda said Rasul Ogli Hasretidina was watching his cattle when three persons crossed the Soviet border, threatened him with weapons and tried to kidnap him. Hasretidina, although unarmed, managed to capture one and drive off the other two.

Pravda did not say where or when the incident occurred. But the shepherd's name is Central Asian, indicating he was on the border with Iran, Afghanistan or China.

Belgian Queen Grows Weaker, Doctors Say

BRUSSELS (AP)—The condition of 89-year-old dowager Queen Elisabeth of Belgium has deteriorated further, her doctors announced today.

The doctors has reported an improvement in the queen's circulatory system last Thursday. The queen suffered a serious heart attack 11 days ago.

SPRINGFIELD, Mo. (AP) — Students at Evangel College will begin distributing automobile bumper stickers Tuesday which read: "We back our boys in Viet Nam."

Local Intruder Takes Savings Account Book

Harold Brown of Route 30, Chester, told police an intruder escaped with a savings account book owned by Curtis Brown Saturday after forcing entry to a trailer parked on a lot on Elizabeth St.

The burglar entered by removing a pane of glass in the trailer door, then reaching through the opening to manipulate the lock, he said. Police said a check will be made to determine if anything else is missing.

An attendant notified police a metal cart valued at $25 was destroyed by vandals sometime between 8:30 a.m. Sunday and 5:30 a.m. today at the laundromat at W. 7th St. and Dresden Ave. operated by Homer Hoffman.

William McKeever, 238 Ravine St., told police a 14 x 42 inch window at his home was broken about 2:30 a.m. Sunday by a stone thrown by a vandal.

Ex-Admiral Taken

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP) — Allen Philip Calvert, 64, a retired rear admiral whose record during World War II won him distinction, died Saturday. At one time, he commanded the flotilla of PT boats in the Solomon Islands in which John F. Kennedy served as an officer.

Canton Drive Begins

CANTON, Ohio (AP)—A drive starts today to raise $7 million for expanding Aultman and Timken Mercy hospitals. With $4 million already available, another $3 million to $6 million in federal grants, along with loans, the program will involve about $21 million and is to be completed in 1970.

If you like to grease the sides (as well as the bottom) of cake or muffin pans, do so sparingly. The bottom of the pans can, of course, be well greased.

Trial Set Tuesday

Citizens' Arrest Names Motorist

A Negley motorist is scheduled of drunken driving early Sun- for a hearing Tuesday morning day morning on the East Liv- in Municipal Court on an Iron- erpool - Wellsville Rd. dale man's charge accusing him! Walter William Krotky, a l s o known as William Walter Krot- ky, was granted a continuance when arraigned this morning be- fore Judge Samuel M. Chertoff after he asked time to obtain counsel. His bond was set at $500.

Jack E. Ingram, who made the citizens' arrest, told news- men that he was forced off the road by the Negley driver who was driving east in the west- bound lanes of the four - lane highway.

Ingram said he turned around and finally stopped Krotky on Webber Way. He placed Krotky in his own auto and took him to police headquarters, the Iron- dale man said.

Meanwhile, Dale Lee Gatrell, 25, of 3rd Ave., LaCroft, was fined $200 and costs, sentenced to 10 days in the city jail and had his driver's license sus- pended for 120 days on a sim- ilar charge.

GATRELL was cited by police late Friday night after his car rammed a curb in the 900 block on Lisbon St. He pleaded guilty.

Taking note of the number of drunk driving cases in the last week, Judge Chertoff comment- ed before sentencing Gatrell: "Someone is going to get killed; I don't want that on my con- science."

A hearing is scheduled Wed- nesday morning for Allen Ed- win McGaffie, 22, of 1272 Sun- nyside Ave., who was arrested by Wellsville Police Chief John Hephner early Sunday on the East Liverpool - Wellsville Rd. on a charge of drag - racing.

His counsel, George A. Aron- son, requested a continuance to- day to permit him to secure facts. McGaffie's bond of $207.50 was continued.

Asst. Solicitor Richard J. Clark and Aronson were preparing subpoenas for prospective witnesses this morning.

Jay F. Smith of Hammonds- ville R. D. 1, who will observe his 82nd birthday anniversary Thursday, voluntarily surren- dered his driver's license for six months at the request of Judge Chertoff when he appeared for sentencing on a charge of reck- less driving.

JUDGE Chertoff said he had received the results of a physi- cal and eye examination and then asked the elderly motorist to turn in his permit. Smith had pleaded guilty Nov. 8 but sen- tencing was delayed pending submission of the results of the tests.

He was cited by police after a collision Nov. 5 at W. 8th and Jefferson Sts.

Sentencing of James A. Locke, 76, of 1510 Wyoming Ave. was continued until Thursday on a charge of driving left of center. He and the other motorist were cited after a crash Nov. 7 on a Lisbon St. curve.

Locke, who was represent- ed by his son, James A. Locke Jr., and his counsel, George A. Aronson, had plead- ed guilty Nov. 8.

A hearing for Charles F. Tay- lor of Glenmoor on a charge of driving an auto with fictitious registration was continued until Nov. 30. Taylor was cited Nov. 6 by the State Highway Patrol.

RICHARD Warren Wright of Calcutta is scheduled for a hear- ing Nov. 23 on a charge of speed- ing 70 miles an hour in a 50- mile zone on Route 30. He was cited Nov. 5 by the State High- way Patrol.

Matthew Stipe of Windsor Heights, Chester, was fined $20 and costs after pleading guilty to a charge of speeding 75 miles an hour in a 50-mile zone.

He was cited Nov. 5 by the pa- trool on Route 7.

Howard S. Graham, 121 Lou- isiana Ave., Chester, was fined $10 and costs for traveling 70 miles an hour in a 60-mile zone Sunday afternoon on Route 7.

Duane Duckworth of Poland drew a similar penalty on a charge of speeding 65 miles an hour in a 50-mile zone on Route 30. He was cited Sunday night by the patrol.

Harry J. Cahill, 1090 Ohio Ave., and Richard Allen Green, 1000 May St., were fined $5 and costs each for failing to observe traffic signals.

Cahill, who pleaded innocent, was cited Sunday on the Penn- sylvania Ave. "Hill Rd." after crashing a signal at 6th St. and St. Clair Ave. Green, who plead- ed guilty, was cited at 1:53 this morning for running the light at 4th and Market Sts.

Thomas Lawrence, 1279 Sun- nyside Ave., is scheduled to no- tify the court when he can ap- pear for a hearing on a charge of reckless driving. The citation was issued Saturday by Patrol- man S. E. Hayes as the after- math of a collision Wednesday on Sunnyside Ave. in which Law- rence was hospitalized.

A hearing is scheduled Wed- nesday for James T. Criss, 220 Lee Ave., Lisbon, on a charge of failing to obey a stop sign at the intersection of Routes 7 and 30. He was cited Sunday by the patrol.

Ship

Guard cutter reported finally on Sunday.

"All the missing persons are presumed lost — drowned, burned or trapped on the ship when she went down," said Lt. William Wilson, Coast Guard search and rescue coordinator in Miami.

The steamer Yarmouth, sister ship to the Yarmouth Castle, made ready to leave Miami at 4:45 p.m. today on its regular four-day cruise to the Bahamas.

"A lot of people got sore Sat- urday when we canceled the cruise," said Leo Rosen, a spokesman for Yarmouth Cruises Inc. He said advance bookings made for Yarmouth Castle cruises would be hon- ored.

Along with the Yarmouth Cas- tle and her victims went mon- ey, valuables, and in most cases clothing of the passengers who awoke in their staterooms, groped in nightclothes through smoky corridors and tumbled into lifeboats or slid down ropes into the sea.

At Pompano Beach, north of Miami, the North Broward Sen- ior Citizens Club mourned 27 members listed as missing on the ship they boarded for a gay weekend outing.

Loren Hicks, who organized the club, said all those on the trip were in their late 60s and would have been handicapped by age and infirmities in trying to flee the blazing vessel.

Passengers accounts indicat- ed the blaze was first noticed forward about 1 a.m. as the ves- sel was about 60 miles from her Nassau destination. None could say what caused it.

There was no immediate statement from Capt. Byron Voutsinas and officers of the Yarmouth Castle.

Capt. Carl Brown of the cruise ship Bahama Star, which picked up most of the survivors, said authorities "think they know just where the fire started and who reported it first." He de- clined to elaborate.

Writer

would have to be informed and that this would have a demoral- izing effect on them; that gov- ernment was shaky enough, as it was.

"Stevenson told me that U Thant was furious over this fail- ure of his patient efforts, but said nothing publicly.

"Time was passing, the war expanding. The pressures on U Thant, supposedly the No. 1 peacemaker of the globe, were mounting from all sides within the UN. So he proposed an out- right cease-fire, with a truce line to be drawn across not only Viet Nam but neighboring Laos. U Thant then made a remark- able suggestion: United States officials could write the terms of the cease-fire order, exactly as they saw fit, and he, U Thant, would announce it exact- ly in those words. Again, so Stevenson said to me, McNama- ra turned this down and from Secretary (of State) Rusk there was no response, to Stevenson's knowledge."

McNamara issued a statement saying it was "totally false" that he on two occasions in the fall and winter of 1964 opposed peace talks with North Viet Nam.

R. G. Brian Again Chosen To Head March Of Dimes

Richard G. Brian of 324 Vine St. has been appointed for the ninth consecutive year to head the March of Dimes campaign in Columbiana County.

Former county recorder and now associated with the Chambers Co. store on Mulberry St., Brian was appointed by Basil O'Connor of New York City, president of the National Foundation, in a letter which also commended him for the showing in the 1965 campaign.

The 1966 drive will open in early January and continue throughout the month. Originally founded to fight polio and aid its sufferers, the organization now utilizes some of its funds to aid the 250,000 children born in the U. S. each year with birth defects.

The National Foundation operates 57 treatment centers across the nation, but said twice that many are required to care for babies handicapped by birth defects. Approximately 15,200 children are born in Ohio each year with birth defects, Brian said.

In the eight years in which Brian has headed the annual county drive, the receipts have totaled $110,400. The 1965 drive produced $13,703, compared with $13,391 in 1964.

East Liverpool gave $5,421 in 1965. The contributions in other communities were: Salem, $3,524; Columbiana, $1,131; Wells, $883; East Palestine, $848; Lisbon, $683; Salineville, $489; Hanoverton, $261; West Point, $202; Damascus, $104, and Elkton, $25.

Mrs. Dorothy Crooks of East Liverpool will serve as chairman of the annual Mothers March in the southern segment of the county. Mrs. June Kendall of Columbiana will head the solicitation in the northern section.

John Allison will be treasurer of the East Liverpool drive. H. C. Musser will serve in the same capacity at Salem, assisted by Harold Smith.

The drive chairmen, listed by communities are: East Liverpool, James W. Crooks; Wells, Mrs. Florene Broderick; Salineville, Mrs. Georgia Beckwith and Mrs. Jessie Bolles; Lisbon, John Snyder Jr.; Hanoverton, John J. Brenner; Winton, D. H. Mayhew.

Salem, Louis Raymond Jr.; Damascus, Mrs. Phillip Bush and Mrs. Ruth Perkins; Columbiana, James Magill; Leetonia, Mrs. Sally Candler and Mrs. Dorothy McCormick; East Palestine, Mrs. Mildred Oliver, and West Point, Mrs. Mary Mellon.

Each chairman will name co-chairmen and captains, Brian explained.

Bills will be acted upon at the county chapter's monthly meeting Wednesday at 6:30 p.m. at the Wick Hotel in Wellsville.

Typical items are: Surgery and care for a hospital patient, $1,680; amortization of respirators for two patients, $900; a new wheelchair for a patient, $265, and a body brace, $155.

Three Plays Will Be Given By High School Thespians

A new approach is being used by Thespian Troupe 319 of East Liverpool High School in the Speech Arts classes with the presentation of three one-act plays in an endeavor to erase a deficit of several years resulting from routine expenses.

The plays will be presented at 7:45 p. m. Friday at Westgate School. Admission will be 75 cents for adults and 50 cents for students. Tickets may be purchased from students or at the door.

Keith Langdon, speech - arts director, will direct "Beat It, Beatnik." The cast includes Aileen Silverman, Linda Alexander, Malcolm Ogilvie, Jerry Lovejoy, Jim Cooper, Debbie Emmerling, Sandy Smith, Cindy McElhaney, Anthony Barbuto, Vicki Stover and Phil Talbott.

"Campus Brides" and "The Trumpet" will be directed by James Martin, a teacher. Appearing in "Campus Brides" will be Grace Galloway, Tom Ash, Evelyn Fletcher, Penny Ealy, Pam Archer, Dan Dupont, Phil Hoschar, Jack Linville and Dave Hargraves.

The cast for "The Trumpet" includes Barb Rohrer, Mike Goodballet, Mike Hargraves, Hoschar, Cooper and Kay Standley.

Sandy Collins is serving as student coordinator. Properties will be handled by Jane DeLong and Barbuto, assisted by members of each play.

The stage and set committee is comprised of Dave Hargraves, Mac Ogilvie, Barbuto, Ash, Ari Green, Ron Kapp, Joanne Edgell, Jerry Lovejoy, Jim Cooper and Dan Dupont.

Jackie Carter, makeup chairman, will be assisted by Karen Simpson, Margaret Rush, Becky Bailey, Candy Burcham and Janice Galeota.

Publicity, tickets and programs are being handled by a committee comprised of Alexandra Cycyn, chairman, Jack Linville, Ash, Evelyn Fletcher, Miss Silverman, Miss Rohrer and Mike Hargraves.

Workers Reject Offer From Columbus Firm

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Nearly 900 employees of Jeffrey Manufacturing Co. went on strike at 12:01 a.m. today after rejecting company offers on new contracts.

Union officials said Local 1038, International Association of Machinists and Aerospace Workers, voted 435-29 Sunday in favor of a strike. International Molders and Allied Workers Local 98 voted 101-3 Saturday to strike, its president said.

Jeffrey makes heavy mining machinery, chain and other steel items.

More Dead Identified In Airliner Wreckage

CINCINNATI (AP) — American Airlines said 39 bodies of victims of last Monday night's jet airliner crash near here have been identified.

Identifications were made Sunday of four more bodies, including those of Mrs. E. R. McAttee and Leslie M. Genung, both of Cincinnati.

It is not necessary, as old-fashioned recipes direct, to wet a mold before it is filled with a gelatin mixture. The "wetting" process does not aid in unmolding.

Hints from Heloise

— By Heloise Cruse —

Dear Heloise: What's the easiest way to make beds? I am worn-out after doing this chore.

MOTHER: Dear Mother: Don't waste your energy trying to be a perfectionist. Never, ever walk around a bed more than is necessary to straighten sheets, blankets, spreads, etc.

Completely make one side of the bed, straightening all the coverlets first, then walk around to the other side and smooth out all the remaining wrinkles.

If necessary (if you have a king-sized bed), you can walk back around to the side you made first and straighten out the coverlets once more.

After you do this a week or so, you will see how much energy you are saving, and won't do it any other way. Why do you think hospital nurses use this method? (I was a Red Cross nurse's aide during the war, and learned it then).

Remember, Hon, that a bed does not have to be made absolutely perfect. The little wrinkle left in your sheet today, will be in a different place tomorrow.

IF YOU STOP to think about it, when we pull down the covers each night, we usually give the sheet a whack-and-a-brush with our hand. (I wonder why we waste energy doing that? And I have yet to see a woman who doesn't. . .)

If you don't give the bottom sheet a smart slap with your hand, just whipping off the bedspread alone, will eliminate the few wrinkles that are there. Try this and see—it works.

Let that bedspread do the work for you, and save your energy for peeling potatoes, ironing, etc.

One woman wrote a while back and said, "Heloise, before I get out of bed, I stretch real big, grab the tops of the covers, and kick my legs up in the air under the sheets. This gives a whoof of air under the covers, and I pull them real tight towards my neck. I slide gently out of bed, and the bed practically makes itself."

KNOW WHAT? I laughed about that. But it works, and it's a grand exercise and eye opener. You all often write letters of laughter. Here's one for you that might not be a letter of laughter in some cases.

One sweet gal said, "If you don't make a bed by noon, forget it, and crawl back in for a few hours . . . or close the bedroom door so your neighbors won't see it. By that time hubby will be home, so turn the bed down instead of making it. It's far easier."

Anyhoo, don't worry about making a bed perfect.

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: We separate, or "chuck style", a head of lettuce, once it is washed, with our fingers and not with a knife.

A knife used in preparing lettuce for the table is what makes lettuce appear rusty or brown-edged.

BOB MARCAVAGE.

DEAR HELOISE: Here's a hint for washday, which saves a little time and detergent:

Instead of putting bleach into my washing machine, I add it to my first rinse water. By doing this, I don't have to throw away clean, soapy water which I couldn't ordinarily use for my colored clothes if the bleach was added to it.

I wash all of my white bleaching clothes first, then put them into the rinse water with the bleach and soak them for five or 10 minutes. After I've done this, all I do is empty the rinse tubs and put clean water in for the colored clothes.

My clothes seem to come much whiter this way.

MRS. PAT MCCLINTOCK.

DEAR HELOISE: I converted an unused silver chest into a first-rate sewing box which looks good anywhere in the house.

The knife slots are handy for scissors, skeins of cotton, tape, or anything which fits.

The block containing spoon slots is easily removable, and square plastic boxes for pins, etc., fitted in.

Plastic bags make it easy to choose buttons without too much sorting. Needles and pins can be stuck in the lining.

There's lots of room for everything I like to have handy when doing my mending.

NORMA TESSIER.

Heloise welcomes all mail, especially household hints which she can pass on to readers as space permits. However, because of the tremendous volume of mail she receives daily, Heloise is unable to answer all individual letters. She will answer readers' questions in her column whenever possible.

Hotel Firm Cited In Cleveland On Gambling Charge

CLEVELAND (AP)—The Cleveland Sheraton Corp. was charged with possession of gambling devices as the result of a weekend raid by liquor agents at Hotel Sheraton-Cleveland.

Agents said the equipment was found Friday night in the hotel's Cleveland Room, where a fund-raising party was being held. Liquor was being sold in the room under the hotel's permit, they added.

A regulation of the Ohio Liquor Control Commission bans gambling devices on liquor permit premises.

Gambling devices found included roulette wheels and chuck-a-luck equipment, agents said.

Allen J. Lowe, general manager of the hotel, said he understood the party was sponsored by the Insurance Women of Cleveland to raise funds for the Cleveland Christian Home for Children.

He said he also understood that persons attending the party were given play money with each admission ticket to be used in the gambling games. The play money also was good for bidding on prizes later, Lowe said.

Losing Becomes Ohio U. 'Theme' During Weekend

ATHENS, Ohio (AP)—The Beatles song "I'm a Loser" might have been the theme.

Here it was football weekend and Ohio University's Bobcats going down to their ninth loss in nine games.

And here were 25 students, mostly from Ohio University, losers to the tune of $32 bond apiece after disorderly conduct arrests that began Friday night and multiplied Saturday night—after Bowling Green's 17-7 victory.

Asked early today if no demonstrations had occurred and if anyone was in jail, police said, "It's all over—they're all home in their beds tonight."

Most of those arrested were among crowds of unruly youths who erupted near a drive-in restaurant when Athens bars closed at midnight Saturday night. It took officers about two hours to quiet down the turmoil which included a burst of bottle-throwing that showered the streets with glass.

Numbered Names

LOS ANGELES, Calif. — The Bushnell Way school in suburban Highland Park has five-year-old identical twin kindergarten pupils with identical names but different numbers. They are Eugene Jerome Dupuis, Jr., 1, and Eugene Jerome Dupuis, Jr., 2. Their dad says he always dreamed of having a son to bear his name. When the twins were born in 1960, he decided to give them both his name, but he added the numbers.

Thunder Ties Roberts For TD Crown In Tigers' 20-2 Win

By BOB DUFFY
Review Sports Editor

On his way to tie for the district scoring championship, Chris (Thunder) Thornton helped the Wellsville Tigers to a 20-2 victory over Beaver Local in a mild surprise before 2,400 fans Saturday night on the Beavers' gridiron.

The victory gave Coach Ken Woods a winning season at Wellsville with a 6-4 mark while Don Ross, in his first year at the helm of the Beavers, brought them to a 4-6 record.

THE PAIR of touchdowns by Thornton left him deadlocked with Larry Roberts, Beaver Local's prolific scorer, as they will share the 1965 title with 126 points each.

Chris scored 21 touchdowns for the season and rushed for over 1,400 yards to rewrite the record books at Wellsville High School.

Roberts totaled 17 touchdowns and added 12 conversions for his total.

THORNTON didn't score a conversion all season and could have won the district title outright Saturday night when he attempted to run for the two points after his second touchdown but was topped short.

Roberts picked up the lion's share of the Beaver Local's yardage Saturday but couldn't score.

THE CLOSEST he came was in the second period when the Fighting Beavers moved to the Wellsville one but on fourth down the determined Tiger defensive wall stopped the Beaver star a foot short of the goal line.

Harry Thornton, the other half of the Tiger brother act, was a key figure in the Tigers' final victory while Wellsville's defensive forces also must take a bow as they came up with three pass interceptions and alertly recovered four Beaver Local fumbles.

The interceptions and fumbles stopped one Beaver Local drive after another, while Harry Thornton added some big yardage and also intercepted an enemy pass.

THE BEAVERS scored first when Wellsville attempted to punt out of its end zone but three Beaver linemen converged on the kicker to block the punt sending the ball out of the end zone for a safety.

The two pointers came early in the second period but with three minutes remaining in the same quarter, Wellsville went into the lead for good when quarterback Rich Hall flipped a strike to Chris Thornton good for 20 yards and a touchdown.

Harry Thornton ran the conversion and Wellsville went in front 8-2.

WELLSVILLE scored again before the period ended. Ron McCauley set up the touchdown by intercepting Dennis Klembara's pass on the Beaver Local 40 and returned it to the 17.

A five yard penalty set the Tigers back but on a fourth down play with 12 seconds to go from the Beaver 20, the Tigers used a razzle dazzle pass play which found Harry Thornton, a southpaw passer, hitting Bob Morehead on the goal line for a TD. The run for the conversion failed but Wellsville took a 14-2 lead to the locker room.

HARRY Thornton intercepted a Klembara pass at the 50 yard line midway through the third quarter and returned it to his opponents' 43.

Harry did most of the ball totting to the Beaver seven before Chris shot through the right side for the touchdown that tied him for the scoring leadership with three minutes to go in the third frame. A conversion run by Chris failed.

Beaver Local attempted to mount scoring drives in the final period by going to the air and proved successful with Klembara throwing mainly to the glue fingered Rich Shilling who made several fine grabs along with end Dick Wright.

Beaver moved to the Tiger 31 but another interception stopped the drive.

Johnny's Sub Throws For Five Colt Scores

By MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Gary Cuozzo, who passed up a scholarship to Yale Medical School and instead took Johnny Unitas' free-agent course, has passed Unitas in his first test.

Cuozzo, subbing at quarterback for the injured Unitas, threw a team record five touchdowns passes Sunday as the Baltimore Colts crushed the Minnesota Vikings 41-21 in the National Football League.

The victory, their seventh straight, kept the Colts one game in front of the Green Bay Packers in the Western Conference.

Cuozzo's touchdown tosses totaled one more than Unitas ever has thrown in a game. The Colts' brilliant regular, who has flipped four scoring passes in a game 12 different times, sat out this one with a back injury suffered last week.

"He knows that someday the job will be his, and he wants to be ready," Coach Don Shula said of Cuozzo after watching his second-stringer complete 16 of 26 passes for 208 yards.

When the Phi Beta Kappa from the University of Virginia does take over from Unitas, it will be a case of one free agent following another. The Colts picked up Unitas in 1956 without the aid of the draft and did the same with Cuozzo in 1963.

In other NFL games, Green Bay edged Los Angeles 6-3, Edwards setting up the winning touchdown. That came on Don Meredith's 28-yard pass to Bob Hayes.

Earl Gros dove less than one yard for Philadelphia's winning touchdown against Washington after a 78-yard pass from Norm Snead to Pete Retzlaff carried the ball to the Redskins' seven.

Tommy James, son of the former Cleveland Brown star, scored twice in the third period. One score came on a 39 yard run while he followed with a 41-yard romp with an intercepted pass.

Massillon missed both conversions due to fumbles in the backfield.

The Tigers, still trailing 14-12, scored with two minutes remaining when Will Foster went over from the three following a 76-yard drive.

Bears Beaten By W. Branch In 30-6 Final

SALEM — West Branch full-back Joe Wilson plunged over for three touchdowns to pace his team in a 30-6 victory over Leetonia here Saturday night in the finale for both schools.

Leetonia put up a good defensive battle for almost three quarters but West Branch tallied three times in the second half. The loss left Leetonia with a 3-7 record.

Wilson scored his first touchdown in the second period on a one yard plunge, then went five yards in the third period and four yards in the fourth quarter.

John Runzo tallied the last West Branch touchdown on an eight yard dash.

Leetonia averted a shutout when Dan Bell raced five yards late in the fourth quarter.

Mrs. Hagge Wins 3rd Tourney In Last Four Weeks

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Mrs. Marlene Hagge won the $10,000 Alamo Open Golf Tournament Sunday — her third in the last four weeks — and vaulted into second place among the money-winners along the women's tour.

Her closing one-over-par 73 was good for 216 over 54 holes and it won her $1,500 first money by three strokes over Kathy Whitworth, the leading money winner of the year, and Carol Mann.

Miss Whitworth had a Pecan Valley course record 69 Sunday but couldn't catch Mrs. Hagge. Miss Mann shot a wind-up 73.

Mrs. Hagge now has won $20,998. Miss Whitworth leads with $27,158.

Brazil Going To Make It Hard For Hunters

RIO DE JANEIRO (AP) — The Brazilian government is going to make life hard for hunters, pet shop owners and zoo buyers.

A recent governmental order is designed to put a full stop to hunting of a list of birds and animals that runs from parrots, through monkeys to jaguars.

There was a bright note for American duck hunters, too. Wild ducks will be protected on their southern stay in Brazilian marshes.

Lucas Has Biggest Night, 38 Points, 35 Rebounds

CINCINNATI (AP) — Jerry Lucas had the "finest hour" of his National Basketball Association career Saturday night, says Cincinnati Royals Coach Jack McMahon.

Big Luke was sensational as he scored a career high 38 points and pulled down 35 rebounds in the Royals' 135-132 victory over the Baltimore Bullets.

"It was the greatest game I've seen Jerry play since I've been here," said McMahon. "He just decided to go and nobody could stop him."

It was a big night also for Oscar Robertson. The Big O dumped in 29 points and had 17 assists to move into second place in the NBA's all-time assists list.

Robertson, in his sixth season with the Royals, has now made 4,211 assists. He surpassed the second place mark of 4,205 held by Dick McGuire.

The 6-foot-8 Lucas, three-time All America at Ohio State, was everywhere, grabbing rebounds and scoring on everything he let go at the basket.

Lucas, a Middletown native, kept the Royals in the game in the early stages by offsetting the equally hot-shooting Bullets who made 13 of their first 16 shots. Lucas scored 25 of his points in the first 15 minutes.

A tip-in by Lucas with 39 seconds left to play insured the Royals victory — their sixth straight and eighth in the last nine games.

Art Heyman made his first lengthy appearance in a Royals uniform and added the last two points for a total of 10. Don Ohl with 28 points and Bailey Howell was 24 paced Baltimore.

Harry Walker's Father Dies At Birmingham

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — Ewart (Dixie) Walker, father of Pittsburgh Pirates' Manager Harry Walker, died in a suburban hospital here Sunday. He was 77.

Walker, one of the first Alabama baseball players to make the major leagues, was a right-handed pitcher for the Washington Senators from 1909 to 1912.

Spartans Wrap Up Trip To Rose Bowl

Nebraska Shuns Cotton Officials, Accepts Bid In Orange Bowl Game

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Nebraska has made its decision. But instead of clarifying the college football bowl situation, it's just confused things.

You see, "most everyone figured unbeaten Nebraska for a return appearance in the Cotton Bowl, opposing the Southwest Conference champion.

Only Nebraska, unbeaten and ranked third in the nation, decided to accept an invitation to the Orange Bowl after a 21-17 decision over Oklahoma State Saturday.

"The players thought it would be a new experience," explained Nebraska coach Bob Devaney, whose Cornhuskers were beaten by Arkansas 10-7 in the Cotton Bowl last Jan. 1.

Missouri also accepted a spot in the Sugar Bowl and Georgia Tech a berth in the Gator, Michigan State, the nation's No. 1 straight victory, ninth this season, came from behind for a 27-13 victory over Indiana. That wrapped up a 7-0 Big Ten season for the Spartans and it appears that selection as the conference representative to the Rose Bowl is only a formality.

Unofficially Florida will oppose Missouri in the Sugar Bowl. Neither Florida nor the Sugar Bowl can announce it yet.

Florida whipped Tulane 51-13 last Saturday to boost its record to 6-2.

And with Alabama apparently headed for the Orange Bowl, it left the Cotton Bowl selectors in something of a scramble.

A lot of the questions — not only about bowls but on such other items as national and conference titles — will be cleared up in four key games this week: the college football bowl situation. Those are:

Michigan State, 9-0, vs. Notre Dame, 8-1 — Has no bearing on the national championship, Michigan State currently is No. 1, Notre Dame No. 4. The Irish blanked North Carolina 17-0 for their seventh straight victory.

Southern California, 6-1-1, vs. UCLA, 6-1-1 — The winner will claim at least a share of the Pacific Athletic Coast Conference title and almost certainly goes to the Rose Bowl opposite Michigan State. Southern California, No. 6, beat Pitt 28-0. No. 7 UCLA clipped Stanford 30-13.

Arkansas, 9-0, vs. Texas Tech, 8-1 — Arkansas, No. 2 in the nation, rolled over Southern Methodist 24-3 for its 21st straight victory, ninth this season. Texas Tech trounced Baylor 34-22. The winner gets a spot in the Cotton Bowl, the loser probably going to another major bowl.

Princeton, 8-0, vs. Dartmouth, 8-0 — The winner gains the Ivy League title but no bowl bid was being administered oxygen.

Rickey, a veteran of nearly half a century in the major leagues, was stricken with a heart attack while accepting membership in the Missouri Sports Hall of Fame in ceremonies in Columbia.

"I'm going to tell you a story from the Bible about spiritual courage," he told the audience. At that moment he said he couldn't go on, sank to a chair and collapsed onto the floor. A resuscitator was rushed to the scene and Rickey was taken to the hospital.

He had left a hospital bed in St. Louis Saturday to attend the ceremonies. He had been hospitalized in St. Louis for 16 days for an ailment, not fully diagnosed, which had raised his temperature to 105.

Rickey had had two previous heart attacks, one at Pittsburgh in 1958 and the other at his summer home in Sudbury, Ont., in 1961.

Rose Bowl — Michigan State

Cotton Bowl — Arkansas or Texas Tech vs. Tennessee, 4-1-2, or Auburn, 6-2-1.

Sugar Bowl — Missouri, 6-2-1, vs. Florida, 6-2.

Gator Bowl — Georgia Tech, 6-2-1, vs. Tulsa, 6-2, Texas Tech or Arkansas.

The Cotton Bowl is the biggest puzzle, since Alabama, 35-14 victor over South Carolina and the nation's fifth-ranked team, appears headed for the Orange

Rickey Remains Critical Following Heart Attack

COLUMBIA, Mo. (AP) —

Branch Rickey, 84-year-old baseball great who collapsed at the speaker's rostrum Saturday night, remained in a coma today in the intensive care section of the Boone County Hospital.

"He is holding his own but still is in critical condition," a hospital spokesman said. He was being administered oxygen.

Out Of The Air

By HAL HUMPHREY

A 'Peyton Place' Says Farewell

As it must eventually for all characters in soap opera, the curtain of gloom has been lowered on Gail Kobe who plays Doris Schuster, wife of the plant manager in "Peyton Place I, II and III" on ABC-TV.

Hal Humphrey recently filmed an episode although not to be aired until mid-December.

"I WAS WITH IT for seven months and in most of the episodes," says Gail, gratefully, "and I loved it all."

Critics of "Peyton Place" notwithstanding, Gail claims that for her it was an opportunity to do some of her best work as an actress. The directors care about the series, she says, and Paul Monash is a good producer.

"Paul is like a father to all of us. I had hoped something would be solved for Doris, not just to keep me in the series, but I felt the character deserved it. I even discussed it with Paul, but he couldn't do anything," Gail says, regretfully.

HER DESIRE for some kind of reformation in Doris Schuster might have sprung from an experience Gail had while on a short hiatus in New York last summer.

"I was doing some shopping when a woman suddenly came up to me and shouted, 'What are you doing here? You're a heck of a mother. No wonder your little girl won't talk!' I was stunned, naturally, and the floor manager finally had to save me from this woman," recalls Gail.

Any actress is flattered and gratified to think she is that convincing and that the show can be taken so seriously by some fans.

Gail still is not completely sure why her part has been erased but suspects the overpopulation of "Peyton Place" may have something to do with it.

"YOU KNOW, until you're a part of something like this you don't realize the other side of it," says Gail. "I was really impressed with the business problems and this may have been what destroyed my part."

"For example, because of Kimberly Beck, the little 8-year-old who played my daughter, there had to be a welfare worker and a teacher on the set at all times and their salaries had to be paid by the film company. "A little thing like a catered breakfast on the set cost $5, and it was nothing but powdered eggs, ersatz orange juice and cold coffee.

"And to bring food in for a sitdown dinner written into the story is simply too expensive—especially if it's for 20 people," adds Gail, as seriously as if she were the treasurer for "Peyton Place."

WITH POVERTY so rife, there wasn't even enough in the petty cash box to toss a going-away party for either Doris Schuster or Gail Kobe.

But Gail has other mementoes to cherish, including a bundle of interoffice communiques from papa Paul to his cast that might some day be the plot for a whole new TV series.

One in particular was to explain to "Peyton Placers" last spring why they would be doing three chapters instead of two each week. Some excerpts follow:

"Almost a year ago we embarked on an unprecedented adventure in television production. . . . Our journey was perilous, and many of those on the shore watched what they thought might be a last farewell. However, we did find our Indies and were received warmly by the natives. . . . (and) now the natives enjoy our company so much that they have requested that we visit with them on Friday night as well. . . . but this time we are sailing in a vessel which already has shown its seaworthiness, and we should feel a sense of exhilaration as we go where no one has ever gone before. . . ."

No wonder Gail is a bit shaken up as she disembarks from Capt. Paul Monash's tight little ship of sorrow.

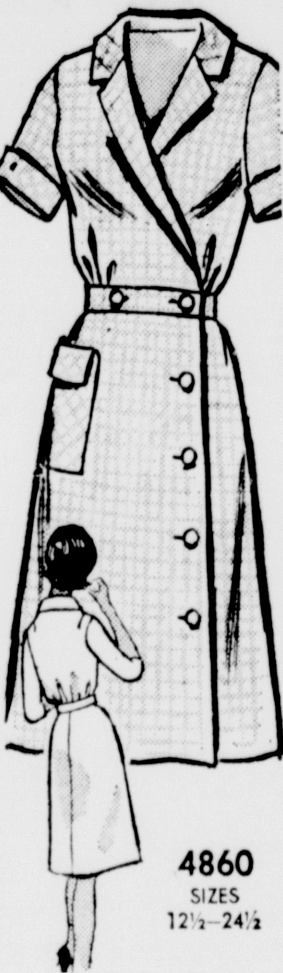

2 Soldiers Complete Eight-Week Program

Two East Liverpool soldiers, Pvt. Lorin L. Slates, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lorin L. Slates of Manor Ln., and Pvt. Ronald G. Wolf, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles L. Wolf of 802 Louise St., have completed an eight-week field communication crewman course at Ft. Knox, Ky.

The 21-year-old soldiers both entered the Army in May 1965 and completed basic combat training at Ft. Knox. They are 1962 graduates of East Liverpool High School.

The common cold and sunburn are reported to be the two greatest causes of job absenteeism in the U.S.

Keep In Trim

Try Pinch Test To Measure Body Fat

How do you measure obesity? How do you know whether or not you have a disproportionate amount of fat? (I am not referring to over weight.) What is the gauge?

These questions were asked by a gentleman who is vitally interested in the relationship of body weight to body fat. Weight tables, even those giving a range for small, medium and large frame, do not accurately measure the amount of fat.

THE THICKNESS of the layer of fat can be measured with calipers. Your doctor can determine how much of your weight is in body fat, with the use of calipers. Various places may be measured — the triceps, that spot of the underside of upper arm; then subscapular skin fold, just under shoulder blade; and the abdomen or diaphragm. These areas are good indices of all-over fatness.

Dr. Norman Jolliffe, in his book "Reduce and Stay Reduced," suggests the pinch test. Take a deep pinch of skin on the side of the body just over the lower ribs. Between thumb and index finger, pick up a fold of flesh. The layer of fat beneath the skin should be between one-fourth and one-half inch thick. If the fold is thicker than one inch, there is probably an excess of subcutaneous fat present.

When a person is frankly fat, this is obviously obesity — that is, too great a proportion of the weight is in fatty tissue.

Dr. Carl Seltzer and Dr. Jean Mayer of the Harvard University School of Public Health made this observation in the August issue of Clinical Nutrition in an article entitled, "A Simple Criterion of Obesity."

"IT IS obvious that if overweight (weight in excess of average) is very marked, obesity is present. For moderate degrees of overweight, obesity is by no means clear. College football linemen are generally overweight; they are not generally obese. Conversely, some extremely sedentary persons can be obese without being markedly overweight. Without a more direct measurement of adiposity, the diagnosis of obesity cannot be certain."

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: I'm a police officer in a large city and I ask you to print my letter as a public service. Last week we received a

"lost child" call. A 5-year-old boy had wandered away from home and the parents were frantic. It took 50 policemen almost 24 hours to find the child. He was hiding in a garage two blocks from his home.

When we found him I asked, "Didn't you see the police? Didn't you know we were looking for you?"

The boy answered, "Yes, I saw the police. But Mommy always told me that if I was a bad boy the police would put me in jail. I was afraid."

Why do parents use the police as bogeymen to frighten small children? Youngsters should be taught that the police officer is a friend. This attitude of fear often carries over into adulthood and the cop is considered an enemy.

Please, Ann, explain to people how wrong this is. We officers need your help. Thanks —O.M.

Dear O.M.: You've explained it — and I hope it hits home.

Bugged Bunny

Dear Ann: I'm almost 14 years old and I'm scared to death of bugs. When I see a spider I just about crack up. Even a grasshopper throws me into a sweat. Caterpillars and things that crawl are enough to make me nearly faint.

I hate to think of going through life scared of little things. None of my friends has this problem so I know I'm not normal. Why am I like this? Please help me. — ALL BUGGED UP.

Dear Bugged: When you were very young you were probably frightened by a bug and you never got over being afraid.

It's normal to fear the unknown. If you know more about bugs you wouldn't be terrified.

Read up on bugs — they are fascinating creatures. Then go out and find a ladybug and put one on your hand. From ladybugs go on to fireflies, then grasshoppers. You might become so interested that you may decide to be an entomologist.

Mad Speller

Dear Ann: I'm so burned up I can hardly see. Please correct my spelling because I'm too mad to spell right.

I sent a wedding gift to the daughter of a friend. This afternoon the bride's mother asked me to go over to her daughter's apartment to see how nicely she had fixed everything up.

Well, I looked high and low for our wedding gift, which should have been in sight. When I didn't see it I asked where it was. The bride said, "I didn't want to bother you but your gift arrived broken so I took it back to the store and got something else of equivalent value."

I feel this was one heck of a lot of nerve. If a gift arrives broken shouldn't the receiver let the giver know? Is it the bride's place to take matters into her own hands and find out how much the gift cost? Please publish my letter and your reply and educate certain ignorant people. Thanks. —MRS. BURNT.

Dear Mrs.: Sorry Lady, but I can't understand why your hair is on fire. I think the girl was considerate, not nery. She spared you trouble by doing the job herself.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Resident Of Aliquippa Wins Grange Honors

BEAVER — Miss Linda J. Whitehead of Aliquippa was runner-up Saturday night when the National Grange crowned a "princess" at its coronation ball in Topeka, Kan.

The princess is Linda G. Settle of Elkin, N. C., the third consecutive year a North Carolina girl has won the honor.

More than 70,000 automobile accidents each year in the U.S. are the result of driver's falling asleep at the wheel.

Grange Gives Degree To 14

Degrees were conferred on 14 members of the Subordinate and Juvenile range at a meeting of the Highlandtown Grange Thursday night.

Receiving the third and fourth degrees were Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Donaldson and Mr. and Mrs. John Storck.

Degrees were conferred on the following new members of the Juvenile Grange: George, Al and Vic Donaldson, Sherry and Ricky Mills, Glenda Jarvis and Patty, Sandra, Richard and Dennis Grodhaus.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Pozenel spoke on their trip as delegates to the State Grange convention at Columbus recently. Pozenel complimented the grange on the work of its degree team.

Mrs. Esther Smith, home economics chairman, reported on the toy party held last Monday. She announced she has Ohio State Grange cook books for sale. She asked each family to bring cookies to the next meeting Nov. 25. A $5 donation was voted to the Columbiana County Welfare Department. Ray Leatherberry, master, presided.

The program was presented by the Highland Flingers 4-H Club, of which Mrs. Jean Francis, Mrs. Agnes McKenzie and Mrs. Elaine Jarvis are the advisors. Mrs. McKenzie narrated a style show of the shift jumpers each girl had made and displayed at the County Fair. They were modeled by the girls who made them. One-year pins and certificates were awarded to 4-H members.

Mrs. Jarvis narrated the candlelight Veterans' Day program. The 4-H group sang "What a Friend We Have in Jesus" and each one gave a scripture verse, lighting a candle after the verse in memory of war veterans.

The program closed with the entire group singing "My Faith Looks Up to Thee." Lunch was served 76 by Mrs. Geraldine Kessel, Mrs. Verla Culp, Mrs. Janet Taggart and Mrs. Blanche Black.

Suspect, 22, Held For Slaying Girl, 14, In Mansfield

MANSFIELD, Ohio (AP)—He was put on probation at 16 for attacking a girl . . . and now 22, was free on bond in another attack case dating back to last August.

She was 14 . . . an "A" and "B" student . . . a good girl who never dated."

Today the girl is dead and the young man faces charges of murdering her.

Mary Ellen Deener's body was found near an automatic laundry in her Mansfield neighborhood early Sunday. She had left her 12-year-old sister a short time earlier in another self-service laundry to get change. She was clutching a handful of coins when officers found her, shot twice in the chest and beaten about the head.

Police said the suspect had confessed after questioning Sunday.

His identity was withheld pending formal charges today. Authorities said that in 1959 he was given probation as a juvenile for assault and battery with sexual intent on a minor female.

He was arrested again, they said, for assault with intent to rape last Aug. 23 and was released on $5,000 bond.

Mary Ellen's slaying shocked a city that had just relived the horrors of summer 1962 when two girls, 9 and 7, were found beaten to death by a youth who had been released from treatment for deviation.

That was the case in which Jerry Ray Howell, now 21, of Mansfield was convicted just last week and sentenced to life imprisonment. He had been committed to Lima State Hospital until judged sane to stand trial.

The Deener girl's mother, Mrs. Jesse Deener, told officers her daughter was a bright student at John Simpson Junior High School and that she didn't run around with boys.

When you line pans in which you bake rich fruit cakes, you can leave the lining around the cakes.

Spacious Living Room's A Must

Big enough for a party, cozy enough for a couple—that's what a living room should be.

You want a living room for entertaining, but for family living, too, and combining them takes a little design care.

REASONABLE size is one requirement if the living room is to host a party. It should seat eight to 12 people without crowding. Some of the seating, however, can be provided by hassocks.

Another fine idea is to build a window ledge at sitting height. With cushions, such an arrangement can be most convenient and comfortable. Between parties, the ledge will serve nicely as auxiliary space for books, magazines and art objects.

To make a living room party-pretty without destroying its everyday family intimacy calls for a look at its essential elements. The tale is told in walls, built-ins and the all-important hearthside.

Most architects and decorators who recognize the needed dual use of the living room shun a too-too parlor look, and they do it in subtle ways.

Walls often are paneled with softwood boards that lend warmth and hominess to the room as well as elegance. The fireplace is designed with function in mind and a certain comforting massiveness that speaks an invitation to the family. There are cabinets, cupboards and shelves built into the room that make it purposeful.

BUT ALL these elements can be as inviting to the guest as they are to the family. A room sheathed in the rich spice brown color of fir, for example, instantly makes a guest feel welcome and sets the mood for a relaxing evening. The same is true of a fireplace that is obviously meant for use, whether or not the fire is kindled.

The first taxes in history levied by a government on its people was in ancient Egypt, where the Pharaohs demanded 20 per cent of all farm products of their people.

Water Dripping?

Reach For The Squeeze Tube

By ANDY LANG
AP Newsfeatures

When water drips from a first-floor ceiling, somebody is sure to go scampering up the stairs to find out whether the faucet in the bathroom sink has been left on.

That's always a good idea. But more often than not, the scamperer shouts down that everything looks all right. It may look all right, but it isn't.

If the dripping is occurring during a rainstorm, the chances are that water is coming through an opening in the roof to the upper floor and then is finding its way downstairs. Or it may be coming in through some opening in the side of the house and moving along the joists to the weakest point in the ceiling.

determine whether any openings are present and a quick repair of the damaged mortar joints when necessary.

There are various types of compounds on the market for repairing such joints, most of them available in squeeze tubes with shaped ends to assist in the spreading.

When most of the old mortar is chipped or broken, it is best to remove all of it before applying the new compound. But in many cases, it is possible to get a good result just by removing the mortar that is loose and not disturbing that which is solidly in place.

THE COMPOUND is squeezed out of the tube as you move your hand along the joint. There's a certain knack to this in order to get a smooth finish, but don't worry if you fail to get the hang of it immediately.

Later, using a spatula, slightly dampened, you can level the joint. This should be done about half an hour after spreading the compound, although it is well to read the instructions on the tube to determine whether a different waiting period is recommended. A single-edged razor blade can be used to remove any compound which gets onto the wall or tub.

In addition to the tube mortar, a rope-like material can be obtained in some hardware stores for filling such joints. With that type of filler, it is necessary to remove all the old mortar so that it can be properly fitted into the opening.

STILL ANOTHER possibility is that a pipe in the upstairs floor has developed a leak. The most likely culprit, however, is an open joint around the top of the bathtub; perhaps a series of such open joints, generally at the point where the wall or tiles meet the upper rim of the tub. Leaks in this area are especially common if the tub has an overhead shower, which sends water against the wall and down through the openings.

Sometimes the dripping in the downstairs ceiling will show up while a shower is being taken or immediately after, but at other times it takes quite a while for the water to work its way down.

The prevention of such leaks depends upon periodic checks to

Larger Enclosure Advised For More Light In Basement

By DOUGLAS TUOMEY

There are two placements followed when installing the windows in a house foundation.

One is to set the window into the foundation wall above the ground and the other is to install the window below grade and surround it with a small retaining wall.

As a rule, the usual result is a very dark basement or cellar because the enclosure is much too small, usually being no larger than the width of the window and 18 inches or so out from the foundation wall. What actually happens in this case is that the angle of light is so restricted that very little of it can get into the basement.

The remedy for the average dark basement is quite obvious once you note the way that a great amount of light can be funneled into the window by providing a large enclosure around the window instead of a small one.

Some people are afraid to increase the size of the window enclosures on the basis that it presents too large a catch-basin for rain. This is not true, however, because no more rain will fall on the area of the enclosure than on any other portion of the grounds, and normal seepage through the non-waterproofed walls and floor of the enclosure will take care of water nicely.

Virtually any home owner can build a large enclosure around basement windows by using 12-inch boards, set four inches apart as forms, and then filling them with concrete. The floor need be only two inches thick and troweled off smooth.

To further increase the light offered by a larger enclosure, it is a good practice to clean down the walls and apply two good, heavy coats of white paint.

The reflective value of this will increase the light in the basement to an astonishing degree and it will be well worth the additional half-hour of brush work.

Alaskans Associated To Melt Igloo Image

SEWARD, Alaska (AP)—Businessmen in several communities have formed a new organization — Alaskans Associated — to attempt to change the igloo, totem and bearded prospectors image of this state.

"We have to step out of the pages of Rex Beach and Robert Service and come up into the modern age," explains, O. E. Darling of Seward, pioneer Alaskan who is serving as temporary director of the organization. The group will commission articles by Alaskan writers, begin a photographic service for national publications and guide visiting journalists around.

Steel Orders For January Seen Up 10%

CLEVELAND (AP) — Steel Magazine said today it expects a 10 per cent rise in steel orders for January, signaling a strong revival in first quarter demand.

The metal working weekly estimates December orders will top October's by "at least five per cent" but says November orders will be slightly under October's.

The magazine points to heavy construction demands, the optimistic outlook for auto output, high railroad equipment needs and the record pace in capital equipment production as reasons for the expected rise. The escalation of military needs for Viet Nam also will aid sales, Steel said.

Steel predicted more pricing action by industry is in prospect.

It quotes one observer as saying "more price hikes are in the wind—there just has to be after those big wage packages in autos, cans, aluminum, steel and aerospace."

A survey of 7,000 manager of metal producing and metal fabricating plants revealed that more than 85 per cent of the respondents think costs will climb an average of 3.4 per cent next year. More than 60 per cent felt their selling prices would be hiked slightly over two per cent.

Steel said most producers of tin plate are about to put in effect a price increase announced last month, and some producers boosted refined copper prices two cents to 38 cents per pound last week.

'No Retirement,' Says Doctor, 99, In Marion Area

MARION, Ohio (AP)—Dr. Edward T. Sager is "up every day at 5 a.m. and ready for business until 8 o'clock at night."

He walks at least a mile every nice morning before breakfast.

He's just turned 99 and he's still a practicing physician.

"They say I'm the oldest general practitioner still active in the United States," Sager remarked after a check with the American Medical Association.

Dr. Sager observed his birthday Saturday and said he has no plans to retire.

"My happiest moments are when I'm busy and I plan to keep busy until the Lord takes me," he commented.

His wife, Ora, 91—who graduated with him from Cincinnati College of Medicine and Surgery in 1897—currently is a patient in Marion General Hospital. She practiced medicine for 10 years.

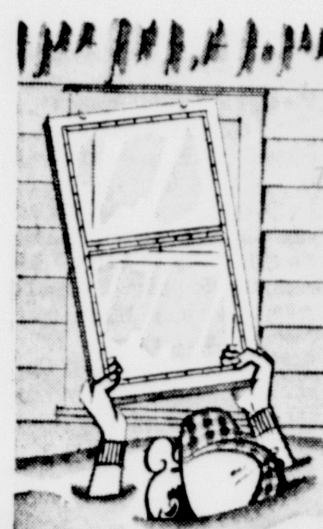

Still making house calls, Dr. Sager says he doesn't turn any down. "I use a cab in town and I have a man who drives me on the country calls," he explains.

The doctor has a steady voice and hand, a ready chuckle, says most folks figure him to be in his early 70s and notes, "I've never had tobacco in my mouth, or a drink of liquor."

"In those horse and buggy days," he recalls, "I got 50 cents for a house call, delivered babies for $3 and charged $5 for setting a broken leg."

"Sometimes I'd get anything from nothing on up."

EXCELLENT DESIGN, limited budget. This 1½ story bungalow has 1050 square feet on the first floor; 667 square feet in the attic, which can be left unfinished and completed as the family grows. Garage can easily be added on the kitchen side at a later date. The well-lighted, double-exposed kitchen has a rear door to an outside service walk. All bedrooms have double-exposure. Plan HA 420Y is 40 feet by 26½ feet, designed by Herman H. York, 90-04 161 Street, Jamaica, N. Y.

Tips Are Offered On Installation If Batts Aren't Snug

Question: The insulation in my attic floor is about 2 or 3 inches thick and the insulation batts do not fit tightly against the joists.

Am I right in thinking that this is a poor job and that the batts should fit tightly if the insulation is to work right? I would like to add more insulation, but have been told that it would create a moisture problem. Is this correct?

Answer: Joists often are spaced wider than they should be, so that the insulation batts don't fit snugly.

This results, as you have implied, in the failure of the insulation to serve its purpose. The remedy is to add insulation on top of the present material. A good way to do this is with the "pouring type" of mineral wool, either rock wool or fiber glass.

Pour it from the bag and spread it evenly, using a short length of board as an improvised rake. For maximum insulating value, fill the spaces to the top of the joists. You will not be creating a moisture problem, for you are not introducing a second vapor barrier. Any moisture vapor that does enter the wool will pass through it.

Question: Every time I use varnish, I get bubbles on the surface of the wood. What is causing this?

Answer: It seems likely you are shaking or over-mixing the varnish before using. This creates bubbles in the varnish, which remain there for some time and which are transferred to the surface you are finishing.

Also, after applying the varnish, go over it at once with an almost-dry brush so that only the tips of the bristles touch the surface. This will smooth out irregularities.

Various Steps Offered For Splicing Of Beams

With today's trend toward the development of basements for use as play or recreation rooms, it is frequently desirable to remove one or more of the columns which support the floor above.

This is not a task that can be simply done without due regard to the safety of the house. It is a matter that requires careful thought. There are also times when a girder or beam develops a bad crack and shows signs of sagging. In either of these cases, a solid job of splicing must be done for the sake of safety and a solid house.

The proper way to splice a beam is by setting two-inch planks of the same width as the beam itself along each side. These should be nailed up lightly, with the nail heads not quite fully driven in, so that you can proceed with the rest of the job.

The next step is to bore holes right through the planks and into the beam and set in lag-screws with iron washers under the heads. These should be staggered in triangular pattern at both ends and in the center.

The screws set in the plank facing you should be offset from those in the back of the beam being spliced. After this, the nails can be drawn or sunk fully.

Most of the splices one sees are made with heavy nails or spikes, but these cannot compare with the rigidity secured with the lag-screws.

The only procedure nearly as solid and strong as this is done by boring straight through all three members involved and driving bolts through to the other side in a driving (very tight fit).

While the above is the kind of project that most grown men might well attempt with success, it is suggested that a builder or other competent person be consulted before it is started.

Reds Report Farm Project 'Undermined'

MOSCOW (AP)—The new Soviet leaders more than a year ago ordered a change designed to give farmers a break and to put more food on the tables of Russian homes.

That decision is still being sabotaged by old-line local officials, the magazine Kommunist reports.

Nikita Khrushchev's successors ordered that farmers once more be allowed to work their own small private plots of land after finishing their chores on the state's large collective farms.

The idea was to encourage the farmer to produce more food on his own to add to that raised on the state's farms. The more the farmer could raise and sell from his private plot, the more he would profit.

The Kommunist article showed how difficult it has been to put this little bit of private enterprise across. It also showed how long it can take for an order from top Soviet leaders to filter down to everyday practice.

The magazine cited these examples of "gross violations" of party and government orders:

Farmers who legally sell produce from their private plots have been denounced in local papers as economic speculators.

Local officials have illegally restricted farmers from obtaining the fodder they need for livestock raised on their private plots.

Local officials have illegally forced farmers to sell products from their private plots according to a plan of fixed sales targets.

Publication of the article in Kommunist indicated official concern at the highest level with these practices. The magazine is the journal of the Central Committee of the Soviet Communist party.

Tax Deductions Given For Conservation Aid

WASHINGTON (AP) — Income tax deductions may be made for some contributions designed to help conserve the nation's natural beauty.

Commissioner of Internal Revenue Sheldon S. Cohen emphasized today that to be deductible, the gifts—either land or money—must go either to governmental agencies or qualified private organizations.

In addition to outright gifts of land, Cohen said, deductions are permitted for the value of scenic easements given to federal, state or local governments.

Friends may call at the funeral home tonight from 7 to 9.

Ohio Draft May Take Husbands Next Month

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio Selective Service reported today that some Ohio married men, including those married before the Aug. 27 cut-off date, may be called for draft physically next month.

A spokesman said, however, that none would be inducted before the end of the year.

Selective Service said the possibility of inducting married men into the armed services in January would have to be studied after the state induction quota for that month is received.

W. E. Davis Cited Car Crash Hurts City Councilman

Councilman William E. Davis, 45, of 713 Edwards Ave. was cited by police as an aftermath of a spectacular three-way traffic collision late Saturday afternoon on Pennsylvania Ave. in which he and a passenger were injured.

Davis was released after treatment at City Hospital for a fractured and lacerated nose and broken ribs.

Carl Amedeo of Post Office Box 144, Chester, owner of the auto Davis was driving, was treated for abrasions of both knees and the right hand and forearm and other multiple small lacerations.

Patrolman Samuel E. Hayes, who investigated the collision at 4:35 p.m. on Pennsylvania Ave. 150 feet west of Maryland Ave., cited Davis on a charge of failure to stop within the assured clear distance.

The officer said the 1960 four-door sedan which the Fourth Ward Democratic councilman was driving collided with a parked 1964 1½-ton dump truck owned by George H. Allmon of the Y. & O. Rd., Glenmoor, and then rebounded into the traffic lane, colliding with an east-bound 1962 two-door sedan operated by Bernice Vignovich of 736 Penn. Ave., Midland.

Amedeo was identified as the owner of the westbound auto Davis was operating. Police said it was a total loss. There also was extensive damage to the dump truck and the left side of the Midland woman's auto, police said.

THE OFFICER'S diagram of the crash scene showed that Davis' car struck the truck, which was parked on the right-hand side of the thoroughfare, and then crossed into the opposite traffic lane and hit the auto.

The councilman's hearing was set for next Monday morning before Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff.

A Lisbon area woman was cited on a charge of failure to stop after an accident as an aftermath of a collision on a Lisbon St. curve Saturday at 8:08 p.m., police said.

She is Mrs. Jean Smith, 32, of Lisbon R.D. 1, whose 1963 two-door sedan allegedly was involved in a collision with a 1961 model station wagon driven by Addison V. Birch, 41, of 862 Baxter St.

Birch told Patrolman Leonard Richard the Lisbon area woman's auto rounded a curve, struck his car and then failed to stop. The collision damaged the right front of the Birch auto and the left front of the Smith auto, police said.

RICHARD said the woman related she did not halt immediately because she was frightened.

Lodged in jail after the mishap, she complained to police at 12:16 a.m. Sunday she was suffering from abdominal pains.

She was removed to City Hospital, where she was admitted. Her condition was described as "guarded."

The Lisbon woman is scheduled for a Municipal Court hearing after she is released from the hospital.

Two autos were damaged in a mishap Saturday at 5:22 p.m. on Pennsylvania Ave. at Central Ave., police reported.

The collision involved a 1964 four-door sedan driven by Ronald W. Kennedy, 21, of 1609 Cleveland Ave. and a 1955 two-door sedan operated by John C. Dietrick, 58, of Tarentum, Pa., police said.

Dietrick said he was halted in a line of traffic when his car was hit from the rear. Police said the mishap damaged the front of Kennedy's auto and the rear of Dietrick's.

Indian Minister Sees Pakistan-Peking Pact

NEW DELHI (AP) — Indian Defense Minister Y. B. Chavan told Parliament today India must "presume" the possibility of joint Pakistan-Chinese action and prepare for it.

Answering questions about Saturday's border incident, in which India says Communist Chinese soldiers opened fire on Indian soldiers, Chavan said:

"One can intelligently assume that the Chinese and Pakistanis might presumably plan joint action, and it's much better and wiser for us to presume the worst and be prepared for it."

The Defense Ministry said 70 to 500 Chinese soldiers invaded Sikkim Saturday and clashed with Indian troops near two Indian observation posts in the Dongchui La Pass. It was the first clash reported between Indian and Chinese troops since Sept. 6.

In many an article or speech on punishment, you have read or heard that the chief argument against spanking is punishment is that it arouses resentment in the child. The statement usually is made without any qualification or reference to the age of the youngster. All Dr. Garry Myers our three children got some spankings before they entered school. We kept voluminous notes on the apparent effect on these youngsters.

Almost none of these notes revealed resentment in the child because of the spankings.

Spanking of the young child in and of itself need not arouse resentment. But spanking that is cruelly severe or a mere "flea bite" or inconsistent, may. One cause of resentment is spanking for an act which had been approved or ignored earlier. Another is spanking a tot under four or five to make him do what you command him to do.

SINCE PAIN tends to make the act connected with it painful and, therefore, avoided by the child, when spanking a youngster, about three, to make him close the door or pick up the blocks, to name a few examples, may not succeed in compelling him to do as you request. In such a case it makes him more stubborn, it makes him resentful.

But if this same child were told once not to throw the block, a single sharp whack on his fundamental may be very effective. There is no occasion for them to feel resentful. Though I have often said in this column that we parents should aim to be finished with physical punishment by the time the youngster is five or six, I concede there may be instances when an older child should be spanked or paddled.

An older child hardly would feel resentment then if he thought the punishment was fair and just and if he knew, before he committed the act for which he was punished, what the penalty would be. In case the parent had always been consistent, the child knew the inevitable consequence before he chose to commit the forbidden deed.

Couple In Texas Had 'Built-In Insurance'

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Mr. and Mrs. Bill Spitz had some built-in insurance when they gave a giant "ant farm" to their son, Nelson, on his seventh birthday.

Nelson somehow managed to turn loose the entire colony in Spitz home. It wasn't quite as dire a problem to his mother as it would have been to some mothers. She merely called her husband's office.

Spitz is president of an exterminating company, and he rushed a crew out to his own home.

"A RAGE TO LIVE" STARRING SUZANNE PLESSETTE

The New Byrd

Harry's Son Looks At Costs

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Harry F. Byrd Jr. is demanding the same kind of fiscal responsibility his father advocated as the price of cooperation with President Johnson.

Congratulating the 50-year-old Virginia Democrat on his appointment to fill the seat Sen. Harry F. Byrd, 78, resigned last Thursday, Johnson said in a telegram he wants to work closely with the new senator.

On this score, Byrd made it plain he will apply as his father did before him the yardstick of how much Johnson's programs will cost and how they will be paid for.

The younger Byrd said Johnson has his support in the course the President is pursuing in the Viet Nam war. But on the domestic front, the new senator said he will examine each White House legislative proposal on its merits but will not be committed in advance to blanket opposition to the "Great Society" programs.

The elder Byrd, who sat beaming as his senatorial successor son was interviewed Sunday at Rosemont, the family home in Berryville, Va., has gone down the line in opposition to practically all of the social welfare legislation Johnson has sponsored.

The junior Byrd made it clear that while he expects to follow the course he owed out by his father in 32 years in the Senate, he regards himself as a forward-looking conservative in tune with the changing times and conditions.

Byrd will be running in the Virginia primary next July not only on the Byrd name but on the record he hopes to make in six months as a senator.

"My father has made his record; now I must make mine," he said.

"I feel that legislators, like businessmen and individual citizens, must continuously look forward — as times and conditions change. I would like to consider myself as a progressive in the sense that it is important to continue to look forward in order to serve the best interests of all the people. There are certain fundamentals that don't change — the constitutional concepts of government, and I feel that true progress can only be made through fiscal responsibility."

In other weekend political developments —

—Sen. Russell B. Long of Louisiana said he had heard nothing of any move to force him to give up his post as assistant Senate Democratic leader when he succeeds the elder Byrd as Senate Finance Committee chairman in January. He said he sees little prospect for a tax cut in the next year or so.

—Barry Goldwater said he doesn't think John V. Lindsay's victory in the New York City mayor's race is causing any great furor in the Republican party. The 1964 GOP presidential nominee added, "I think there's an attitude of let's wait and see what kind of job he does."

In his interview, Byrd aired his views on a number of issues that seem likely to come before the Senate in the session beginning in January.

He said he does not believe any additional civil rights legislation is needed. It would be a mistake, he said, for Congress to repeal a section of the Taft-Hartley Act which permits states to ban the union shop.

The new senator said he favors and would vote for a proposed constitutional amendment to permit state voters to apportion one house of their legislature on other than a population basis as the Supreme Court has decreed.

On budget balancing, the new senator said, "I feel that sooner or later we'll need to put our fiscal house in a little better order and I hope that a start can be made toward bringing the budget into balance."

Worse Disaster Averted 2 Light Planes Collide Above Town; Pilot Killed

NEW CARLISLE, Ohio (AP) — Perhaps Sunday flier James L. Graham still had some control of his plane, shy its tail, after an aerial collision, when it missed houses in crashing on a residential street.

But it probably will never be known for sure whether his flying skill or Providence averted worse disaster Sunday.

The Piper craft burned to a mere frame, with Graham inside, on a front yard just off the main thoroughfare in this Clark County community in the Springfield-Dayton area.

He was the only casualty.

Graham's plane had "come out of the sun," as James F. Rock, 46, of Fairborn put it, and into the path of Rock's Piper plane as he approached New Carlisle Airport to land.

Rock, with his wife as a passenger in their plane, managed an emergency landing in a field near Ohio 69. He and Mrs. Rock walked away unscathed.

Their plane's right front had sheared the tail off the plane of Graham, 56, of Dayton. The Graham plane, witnesses said, made a small circle and slanted to earth, taking the chimney and antenna off one house, the roof off a children's playhouse, downing electric wires and tangling in a fence. One wing virtually touched another house.

But no one on the ground was hit.

A young boy, Gary Shanner, said the plane missed him by two feet as he played in a tree-top behind his house.

Al Fisher, reportedly employed as a crash crewman at Wright-Patterson, lives in the neighborhood. He said he was putting up storm windows when he saw the planes collide 800 to 1,000 feet directly overhead.

Aviation authorities came in to investigate the accident.

Red China Boats Sink Minesweeper, 85 Lost

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP) — More than 85 Nationalist Chinese navy men are feared lost in the sinking of a minesweeper in a weekend battle with Communist gunboats off the Chinese mainland.

Navy headquarters said 15 crewmen of the 180-foot minesweeper had been rescued.

The navy said eight Communist gunboats attacked the minesweeper and a Nationalist gunboat Saturday night in the Formosa Strait. The Nationalists claimed four of the Communist boats were sunk and a fifth damaged.

Red China's New China news agency said the Nationalist gunboat also was badly damaged. The Nationalist navy said the boat returned to its base safely.

YOU'LL JOIN THE DODGE REBELLION. IT'S GUARANTEED* TO DRIVE YOU HAPPY!

*HERE'S NOW DODGE'S 5-YEAR, 50,000-MILE ENGINE AND DRIVE TRAIN WARRANTY PRO-TECTS YOU: Chrysler Corporation confidently warrants all of the following vital parts of its 1966 cars for 5 years or 50,000 miles, whichever comes first, during which time any such parts that prove defective in material and workmanship will be replaced or repaired at a Chrysler Motors Corporation Authorized Dealer's place of business without charge for such parts or labor: engine block, head and internal parts, intake manifold, water pump, transmission case and internal parts (excepting manual clutch), torque converter, drive shaft, universal joints, rear axle and differential, and rear wheel bearings. REQUIRED MAINTENANCE: The following maintenance services are required under the warranty—change engine oil every 3 months or 4,000 miles, whichever comes first; replace oil filter every second oil change; clean carburetor air filter every 6 months and replace it every 2 years; and every 6 months furnish evidence of this required service to a Chrysler Motors Corporation Authorized Dealer and request him to certify receipt of such evidence and your car's mileage. Simple enough for such important protection.

A Junior Editors Quiz About
COINS

QUESTION: Why do our coins have raised edges, some with little ridges on the outside?

ANSWER: About 700 B.C., the ancient Greeks began to use coins as a medium of exchange. In (A) we see one of these first coins made of a mixture of silver and gold. Soon the Greeks began to make very artistic designs on their coins, as in (B). As more were used, it became natural to stock them up in piles for easy handling and counting, as we see our young friend doing. The first coins, however, which often had raised designs, would slip and slide around when they were stacked. Coin (B) shows the Greeks' answer to this. They placed a little raised edge all around to make it possible to pile a stack of coins very neatly. This also prevents wear on the raised part. Not all of the old coins had these raised edges. Coins in (B) and (C) also show the ridged edges, such as our dimes and other silver coins have today, called "milled edges." Dishonest people used to scrape some of the silver or gold from the edge of a coin and keep the scrapings, while using the coins as well. The milled edge makes it easier to find out if this illegal practice is going on and track down the people who are doing it.

FOR YOU TO DO: Coin collecting is a wonderful hobby. We illustrate the first U.S. coin ever issued (C). You may be able to spot coins in ordinary change which have more than their face value. Get a coin catalogue to find out which ones to look for.
